

RIOTING IN FRANCE

More Trouble Over the High Price of Food

SAINT QUENTIN, France, Sept. 1.—Rioting which broke out here yesterday evening over the high price of food lasted all night. A regiment of infantry and a squadron of cavalry called out to quell the disturbance, but were unable to cope with the mob, which plundered shops in widely separated streets at the same time. The squadron of cavalry frequently charged into the crowds and several of the cavalymen were pulled from their horses and beaten. Twenty of the rioters were taken to the hospital severely injured.

TRADE AT STANDSTILL

LENS, France, Sept. 1.—Trade is completely at a standstill here today owing to the fear of expected food riots. The shutters have been put up on all the shop windows.

THREE MEN INJURED

Sprinkling Car Got Beyond Control of Its Handlers

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 1.—Three men were critically injured, a horse killed, two wagons were smashed and other damage was done today when a sprinkling car on the Portland street railway after being struck on Vaughan street by another car ran uncontrolled down a long, steep hill on Congress street into Railroad street.

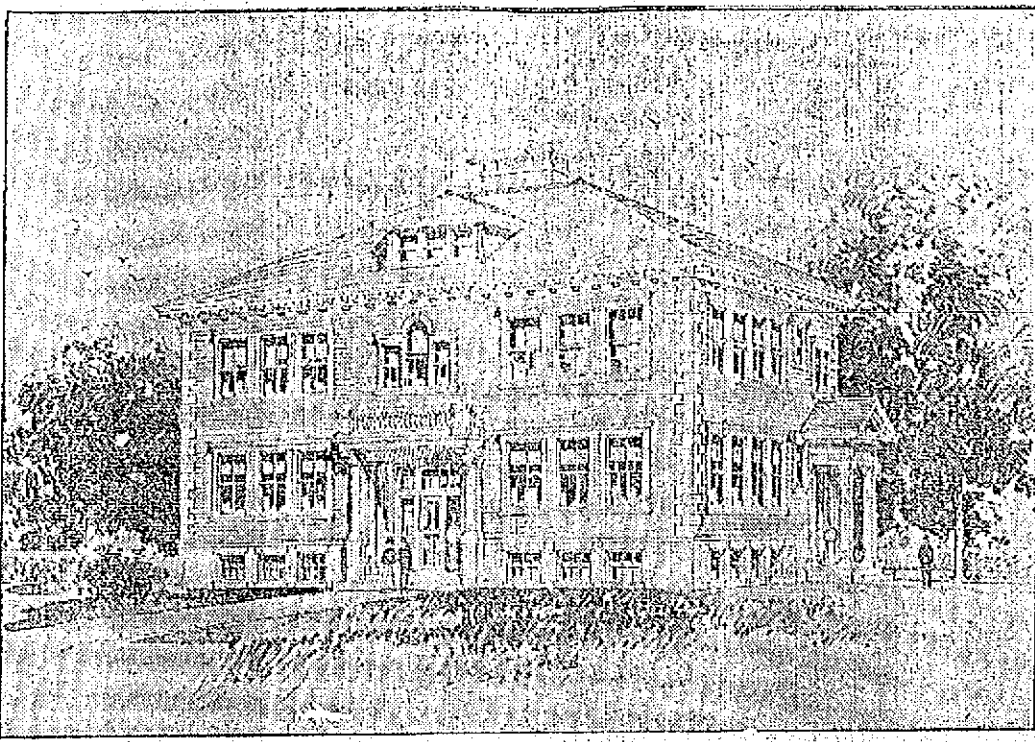

GLOBE TROTTER BRINGS SUIT AGAINST MRS. CORDELIA VIEN

Laurent Revel, the famous globe trotter, has brought suit in the sum of $7000 against Mrs. Cordelia Vien of New Bedford, who is interested in the Merrimack hotel of this city. Revel is alleged to be suing for the recovery of $5000, a sum, he says, he loaned the woman last year. Revel is well known in this city, having come here a couple of years ago while on a trip around the world. He was then accompanied by his favorite friend, a large dog.

Mrs. Vien is a large real estate owner in Lowell and New Bedford and is at the present time conducting a moving picture theatre at the latter place.

A son was born Sunday to ex-Councilman and Mrs. Hugh Finnerty of Gorham street. The boy has been named James H. Finnerty.

NEW SCHOOL OPEN

THE NEW SCHOOL AT NORTH CHELMSFORD OPENED TODAY.

North Chelmsford Residents Inspect New Building

North Chelmsford's new school house, a small but cozy and adequate building erected from plans drawn by Henry L. Bourke of this city was opened for public inspection this afternoon. The school committee has previously described in the columns of The Sun. The school committee has sent out the following notice relative to the district to be covered by the new school. All parents residing on the south side of the railroad crossing, and whose children will attend the First, Second, Third or Fourth grades, are notified to send them to the new school on the morning of September 5th. All other children and those residing on the other side of the crossing will report at the main building on Princeton boulevard.

New pupils whose ages must reach five years during the month of September, will only be admitted up to Sept. 30th. There will be no enrollments after that month, unless children whose families may locate in this section of the town after that date.

EXCITING RUNAWAY

Horse Took Fright in Prescott Street Today

A horse attached to a covered and highly painted wagon, the property of M. J. Avila, a milkman living in Chipewa street, took the bit in his teeth in Prescott street shortly after the noon hour today and caused a commotion in Merrimack square, Bridge and Second streets. The driver was unable to control him and acted as if he had not had much experience with horses. It looked bad for him at the rate he was being carried through Bridge street and more than once, when the horse swung from one side to the other of the street, it looked as if the wagon would surely topple, but it didn't until it reached Second street. Just as he was reaching Second street the driver made one desperate pull at the reins in an attempt to take the bit from the horse's teeth and the mighty pull broke a rein. Then the horse made for the sidewalk, collided with a building and the wagon toppled over. The horse stopped as though he felt that he had made trouble enough; the driver pulled himself out from beneath the wagon and a careful survey of the situation revealed nothing more serious than a broken shaft. It does beat the Dutch what narrow escapes some people do have.

A TRAINED NURSE A GREAT RAINFALL

Places Value of $15,000 a Year on Services River is Higher Than Two Weeks Ago

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A trained nurse who values her services at more than $15,000 a year yesterday filed in the supreme court an action against the executors of the estate of the late Chalmers Dale, millionaire stock broker, to collect $30,000.

The nurse is Ida Corey Murray, a young woman who attended the elder Chalmers Dale during his last illness. She presented her extraordinary claim to Chalmers Dale, Jr., and Eugene Smith, trustees of the Dale estate, and it was rejected.

Miss Murray asserts in her complaint that she was called to attend Mr. Dale, Sr., at his Philadelphia (Pennsylvania) summer home in November, 1905, and found him there suffering with a dangerous malady. She remained with him until his death, in August, 1907, and was his caretaker during the entire period.

The nurse declares that Mr. Dale became so well satisfied with the care she gave him that he would allow no one else to look after his comfort. On this account, she says, she was with him night and day continuously during the period of his service.

Miss Murray's action adds another chapter to the litigation that has kept the sons of the elder Chalmers Dale busy in the courts. As long ago as 1904 Chalmers Dale, Jr., was named as the defendant in a suit for alienation of affections. Albert T. Foster, then manager of the Algonquin Hotel, sued young Dale for $250,000 for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Foster's affections. Dale entered a general denial of the charges, and before a suit came to trial married Miss Sadie Peters of Brooklyn. She had been on the stage in "The Girl from Kays" and "The Billionaire."

Francis, the younger son, married Lillian Patterson, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Patterson, of No. 51 West Fifth street, on New Year's day in 1909, and in less than ten months they were parted. Their matrimonial troubles are now in the hands of a supreme court referee for adjustment.

THE ROCKEFELLERS

HELD A REUNION BUT JOHN D. WAS NOT PRESENT

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 1.—The reunion of the Rockefeller family association was held here today, but John D. Rockefeller, the most important member, did not attend. He sent his regrets and best wishes for the success of the gathering, and an invitation for the association to visit him today at his home near Tarrytown.

Benjamin F. Rockefeller, the president of the association, a third cousin of John D. Rockefeller, said most of the Rockefellers were prosperous. John D. simply acquiesces in the supralative degree of a family trait. At the same time the Rockefellers as a group are bright, clever and interesting.

The company had a merry time all day, closing with a banquet last night at the Nelson house. "Uncle Clint" Rockefeller, of Red Hook, a veteran member of the family, said tonight he was sorry that he couldn't go down to see John D. at Tarrytown today, but the apple crop up in his home borough needs harvesting and he couldn't spare any more time. "Uncle Clint" is past 80, so it seems that John D. isn't the only great Rockefeller who keeps up an active interest in current business affairs.

The Rockefeller family association on Saturday will make a pilgrimage to Germantown, N. Y.

HE KILLED HIMSELF

Man Committed Suicide by Hanging

GLEN COVE, L. I., Sept. 1.—The day after he brought a bride from his former home in Mystic, Conn., Warren S. Tacker lost his job the next day he disappeared and today, nearly two weeks later, his body was found in a field near this village. A noose was around his neck and the other end of the broken rope was tied to a limb over his head. When the coroner viewed the body, saw the rope and heard Tacker's story he promptly rendered a verdict of suicide.

Tacker, who was about 30 years old, came here from Mystic several months ago and until his recent loss of employment worked as foreman for a local contractor. Apparently his dead body had swung from the tree for several days until the rope broke and he dropped to the ground.

FIVE LOTS ALREADY SOLD—ONLY 10 LOTS LEFT

Unsold On This Property.

Only Two 15c Per Sq. Foot Lots Left. No 5c Lots as They Are All Sold. The Lowest Priced Lot Left for Sale is 7c, Some at 8c, 9c, 10c, 12c, 14c and 15c, and Only One Lot Left at That Price.

TAKE HIGHLAND CAR TO END OF LINE, THEN WALK ONE MINUTE WALK UP STEVENS STREET TO FAIRFAX STREET. SALESMEN ON THE PROPERTY ALL DAY TODAY AND TOMORROW.

Lots have already been sold to the following named, well known persons, who intend to erect fine residences at once:

One lot comprising 8100 sq. ft., was sold to Mr. Fred E. Bean, one of Lowell's old-time, conservative, and most reliable contractors. Mr. Bean has acquired a well-deserved reputation for being a shrewd and careful buyer of real estate, and will erect immediately a splendid, single family dwelling on the lot above described.

Lot No. 7 has been sold to Mrs. Della McAndrews who buys for investment in the firm belief that within one year values will so increase as to net a handsome profit, and she also intends to build.

Lots No. 1 and No. 2 have been sold to a Mr. Sullivan of Middlesex street. These lots comprise about 11,000 sq. ft., fronting on Stevens street. Lot No. 1, being an exceptionally fine corner lot, at the corner of Stevens and Fairfax streets. Lot No. 12 was sold to a well known Lowell real estate man. Watch this lot; there will be a surprise coming. Who has bought this lot? Go look at the lot, and then guess who he is.

In addition to the above two lots have also been sold at the "Lowell Highlands": one to Contractor Charles A. Morton, who is enthusiastic in his opinion that this part of the city is due for a rapid rise in value owing to the building of the new St. Margaret's church and the natural inclination of every city to grow in a westerly direction. Mr. Morton is well known in Lowell real estate and business circles as a contractor with the ability, push and hustle to bring to successful issue any undertaking. As to his judgment in seeing the advantages and disadvantages of a prospective purchase, his shrewdness is probably second to none in this city.

Another lot has been sold to Contractor John R. Sargent, another one of Lowell's rising home-builders, who already has the battens up for a home for himself as soon as the house is completed.

WHEN THREE CONTRACTORS BUY THREE LOTS IN THE SAME SECTION, AND ARE BUILDING HOUSES FOR THEIR OWN OCCUPANCY, YOU CAN'T GO WRONG, IF YOU PURCHASE A LOT OR HOUSE ON THE SAME PROPERTY.

Sharp Rise in Value Anticipated Owing to the City's Westward Growth and the New St. Margaret's Church

Lowell's Choicest Residential Section—Accept the Shrewd Business Judgment of Two Well Known Expert Real Estate Men

About two years ago I bought from the well-known firm of Sheppard and Fuller these 15 house-lots. With a vast amount of business property in their hands to select from this prominent real estate firm selected this exceptionally fine piece of property for development. When this successful firm decided to go out of business, this land was offered me at a very low figure which I accepted and bought almost instantly—a figure far below its value.

EVERY PERSON BUYING ONE OF THESE 10 LOTS OF LAND NOT ONLY GETS HIS OWN JUDGMENT, BUT HAS BACK OF HIS OWN JUDGMENT THAT OF THE OLD ESTABLISHED FIRM OF SHEPPARD AND FULLER, WHO SAW IT WAS THE BEST PIECE OF PROPERTY IN THE CITY OF LOWELL FOR THEM TO BUY, AND CONSIDERABLE PROPERTY IN THE HIGHLANDS THE PAST 20 YEARS, AND WHO PRONOUNCES THESE LOTS WITHOUT AN EQUAL FOR HOME AND INVESTMENT PURPOSES AND ULTIMATELY EDGED IN EVERY RESPECT.

Look Over the Lots Today From 1 to 7, Tomorrow From 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. Salesmen on the Property Saturday, Sept. 2d.

Mr. Eugene G. Russell Will Personally Be on the Grounds to Sell Lots Today and Saturday From 12 Noon to 7 P. M.

He will be glad to meet all of his old friends and anyone who desires to see him, especially each and every resident and lot owner at the Lowell Highlands.

CHOLERA EDIDEMIC

Is Obtaining a Firmer Hold in Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 1.—The epidemic of cholera is obtaining a firmer hold in Turkey. On Aug. 31 there were 70 cases and 25 deaths reported here. In addition there was a heavy mortality in the Turkish garrison and at the Albanian camps on the outskirts of Belkon.

The prefect of police has notified the chief rabbi of the government's decision to burn down all the old houses belonging to Jews in the Hokeny quarter, as the buildings are regarded to be hotbeds of cholera. Thousands of dwellers in the ghettos will thereby be rendered homeless, and the leaders of the Jewish community are taking steps to provide for them.

PRIZES OF $2500

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Notwithstanding the heavens have deluged the aviation field at Squantum for three days past, the management of the Harvard-Boston Aero meet was early on the field today confident conditions would be sufficiently improved to permit of double programs each day until all the events of the meet had been contested which it was believed would be accomplished by next Wednesday night.

The dozen or more aviators have shown the finest consideration for the management of the meet and there has been no complaint and no desertion notwithstanding the delay has caused considerable extra expense upon the flyers themselves and interfered with future contracts.

The event of note scheduled for today is the flight to Boston Light and return, the distance being covered twice and making 33 miles for which prizes aggregating $2500 are offered. Claude Grahame-White is considered the favorite in the race with his 70 horsepower Newport. Stone in a 100 horsepower Queen monoplane and one or two of the Bleriot are expected to give the Englishman a hard go.

Lincoln Beachey is due to come out for some real work in altitude climbing if the sky proves clear, the daring Curtiss flyer having promised his friends to "touch the top" and make a mark which will stand through the remainder of the year.

LOCAL ITALIANS

Take Steps for Erection of a Church

The Italians of this city are proposing to erect a Catholic church of their own in the near future and for this purpose they will be addressed by Rev. Francesco Palombello of the Franciscan order of Boston, on Labor day at a solemn high mass celebrated at St. Peter's church.

There are in this city over 500 Italians, the majority of whom are Catholics. They mostly all live in the vicinity of Gorham, Summer and Winter streets, and they attend mass at St. Peter's church, but a number of them are not acquainted with the English language and they do not understand the sermons. Accordingly a movement is on foot to build a church and have a priest of their own nationality.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning a solemn high mass will be sung at St. Peter's church by Rev. Francesco Palombello of Boston, assisted by two priests from St. Peter's church. The Italian missionary will, after the mass, address the congregation on the question of an Italian church in this city, and if the plan seems favorable, he will immediately name a committee to go along with the work of soliciting funds, and a site will be at once looked for, and it is probable that within a year, the Italians of Lowell will listen to sermons in their mother tongue.

This church movement was started by Vincent Marotta, one of the most popular Italians of this city, and he feels confident that the proposed plan will be a success.

At the mass Monday morning the Italians will receive holy communion in a body and it is expected that they will all be present. The regular St. Peter's church choir will furnish an elaborate program of sacred music, and the sermon will be given after the mass.

LOWELL PEOPLE

TO ATTEND CONVENTION AT BIDDEFORD, ME.

The annual convention of the treasurers of the Artisans' Canadian Franciscans of Montreal, which has branches in Canada and the United States, will be held Sunday at Biddeford, Me. This convention is generally very interesting and instructive to the delegates.

The Lowell people who will attend this meeting are Elphège J. Beaudette of Branch St. Louis; Tancredi Blanchette of Branch St. Joseph; Joseph A. Plante of Branch St. Marie and Edmond Berger of Branch St. Andre. They will leave here tomorrow evening so as to be in Biddeford in time for the opening of the convention which will take place at high mass at the French Catholic church of that city.

NEW CITY CHARTER

Digest of Its Main Provisions Prepared to be Mailed to Voters

The Sun presents today a digest of the proposed new charter prepared by the committee of 60 who are promoting the charter containing about all of its salient points. The digest will be put in pamphlet form and sent to every voter in Lowell for more careful consideration. This digest should be preserved for future reference.

Digest of Charter

The digest should be carefully read by every voter. It is as follows:

Synopsis of the principal provisions chapter 645 of the acts of 1911, entitled "An act to amend the charter of the city of Lowell."

First—The government of the city of Lowell is vested in a municipal council to consist of a mayor and four aldermen, except that a school committee of five members will control the public schools and school property. The mayor and aldermen and school committee are all elected at large for terms of two years, except that at the first annual city election, which will be held upon the third Tuesday of December, 1911, the two aldermen receiving the smallest number of votes, necessary to elect, will also serve for only one year.

Second—A preliminary election for the nomination of candidates, to be voted for at the city election, shall be held on the third Tuesday, preceding each city election, and due notice of said preliminary election shall be given.

Third—At the preliminary election the polls shall be open at 12 o'clock noon and shall not be closed before 8 p. m. The preliminary election shall be conducted substantially in the same manner as the annual city election.

Fourth—Except in the case of a recall election as provided for in section 60 of the act, the name of no candidate for office shall go upon the official ballot for election unless he has been nominated at a preliminary election, excepting only candidates for political committees.

Party Designation Abolished—Fifth—Political and party designations are abolished, and only names and residences of candidates may appear upon the ballot.

Sixth—To secure a place upon the official ballot at a preliminary election, a candidate must be endorsed by twenty-five voters of the city of Lowell and must file with the city clerk a statement in writing, setting forth that he is a candidate and requesting that his name be placed upon the official ballot. Women, who are qualified to vote for members of the school committee, may nominate for those offices and be nominated for them in the same manner as nominations are made for other offices.

Seventh—After the time for filing such statements has expired a list of those persons who are entitled to have their names appear on the official ballots at the preliminary election shall be published in the newspapers.

Eighth—The preliminary election is then held on the third Tuesday preceding each city election, and the returns thereof shall be published in the newspapers, the persons receiving the highest and second highest number of votes respectively, or, if there are more than two persons to be elected, the several persons to a number equal to twice the number to be elected, who receive the highest number of votes, the second highest, and so on, shall be the candidates whose names will be printed on the official election ballot. In case of a tie further provision is made for the names which shall go upon the official ballot.

Ninth—The city election is then held on the second Tuesday of December, except in 1911, when it will be held on the third Tuesday, the persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected, and if two or more persons are to be elected to the same office, those receiving the highest, the second highest, and so on, shall be deemed elected.

Tenth—The present city government, together with the board of charities, the board of trustees of public cemeteries, and the water board, are abolished, and generally, the powers and duties of these bodies are transferred to the new municipal council, which must organize on the first Monday of January in each year, and choose a president of the municipal council. The presence of three members of the municipal council is necessary to organize.

The New Departments—Eleventh—Practically all the functions of the municipal government are divided among five departments.

(a) Public safety, of which the mayor is head and commissioner.

(b) Finance.

(c) Streets and highways.

(d) Water works and fire protection.

(e) Public property and licenses.

Each alderman will be designated by the municipal council, the commissioner over some one department other than that of public safety.

Twelfth—The act sets forth, in considerable detail, the duties of the municipal council and of the various commissioners, the place and manner of holding meetings of the city council and the conduct of its business. The act also forbids the making or authorizing of any contract in excess of $500—except in case of public emergency—without advertising the same for one week in the newspapers. All final votes of the municipal council involving an expenditure of $50 or over shall be by yeas and nays and entered on the records. The affirmative vote of at least three members shall be necessary for the passage of any order, ordinance, resolution, or vote. Furthermore, no measure passed by the municipal council except in case of public emergency can take effect until ten days after its passage. It is specifically provided that the mayor shall have no veto. No commissioner or other officer of the city shall exercise in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property knowingly expend any sum of money in excess of the annual appropriation given to him, or use the same for any purpose other than that specified in his appropriation, except that unexpended balances may be transferred by vote of the municipal council, but no money raised by loan shall be transferred to an appropriation from income or taxes. Any officer who knowingly violates the above provisions, as to expenditures, is subject to a fine or imprisonment, or both.

Thirteenth—The commissioner of finance is required to publish monthly a detailed statement of the city's finances.

Fourteenth—Participation—directly or indirectly—by any member of the municipal council, school committee or any officer or employee in any contract with the city except under certain specified safeguards is made a criminal offense.

Police and Licensing Powers—Fifteenth—The act divides the administrative work of the city, with the exception of such as pertains to the school committee and city library—into five departments above named, and all officers not placed by the terms of the act under one of the above departments will be assigned by the municipal council to some department.

Sixteenth—The administrative and executive officers and boards and heads of sub-departments are to be elected by the municipal council. The municipal council also has the power, under the laws regulating the civil service, to suspend or remove any executive or administrative officer or head of a sub-department. These provisions for appointment and removal by the municipal council do not apply, however, to the school committee, the license commission or the trustees of the public library; nor are they to be construed to affect in any way the powers or duties of the park commission. The board of assessors is given full power to appoint and remove such assistant assessors, temporary assistant assessors, permanent and temporary clerks as are now authorized or may hereafter be from time to time authorized by the municipal council.

Seventeenth—The various commissions, or heads of the respective departments have full authority, subject only to the general laws of the commonwealth, to appoint, employ, suspend, remove or discharge their subordinates or make any contract pertaining to their respective departments, except that any contract for construction or supplies exceeding $50 must be approved by the municipal council.

Eighteenth—The terms of all city officers, except as otherwise specifically provided in the act, are made indefinite, subject to the conditions of the act as to suspension and removals, and excepting therefrom the board of park commissioners and the license commission, whose terms of office continue in effect for five years and six years respectively.

Nineteenth—The municipal council may, from time to time, create ad-

STOMACH GAS

The Cause of Many Misleading Symptoms and Unnecessary Alarm.

Gas on the stomach sometimes causes pressure on the heart and the sufferer is unnecessarily alarmed, fearing heart disease. In other cases it produces bloating and more needless worry. The real trouble is in the blood.

When the blood is poor and thin, and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with well-oxygenized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentation of the food goes on, with formation of gas and certain acids. The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; the acids produce the sour risings in the throat.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or, "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure rich blood which will tone up the stomach is required, as this case shows.

"Five years ago," says Mr. Walter Geary, of No. 308 Kearns avenue, Roxbury, Philadelphia, Pa., "I was confined indoors, working in a machine shop, and became run down. For three years I suffered from gas on the stomach. I felt all bloated up, had terrible pains in the abdomen and was so dizzy at times that I could hardly see anything. I had had headaches frequently. I lost my appetite and weight and got as yellow as could be. I felt tired all of the time and could hardly drag my legs along. I had trouble in keeping at work and was nervous and despondent. 'The doctors' prescriptions didn't help me and I thought there was no cure until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A thorough trial of the pills completely cured me and I am now feeling in perfect health."

The vigor and strength which comes from a healthy stomach and a perfect digestion can only be obtained by keeping the blood pure and red. Sufferers from too much gas or acid on the stomach, heartburn, tenderness or pains through the pit of the stomach or any form of indigestion should start at once to build up and purify their blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Others who need a blood-builder will find these pills most useful tonic. THE LAWRENCE LOAN Turned Down by Old Colony Trust Co.

LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—That the Old Colony Trust company turned down the $175,000 loan, adopted by the city council Wednesday night, and that a special meeting of the city council is necessary to pass a new loan ordinance are foregone conclusions. The loan ordinance was rejected on account of its technical defect in referring to the City Trust company, which does not exist today but was absorbed recently by the Old Colony Trust company.

City Treasurer William A. Kelleher said last night: "Mayor Cahill and I went to Boston Thursday and conferred with the Old Colony Trust company officials. He declined to talk any further. When asked if the Old Colony company officials would overlook the technical defect, he refused to answer. He stated that the balance in the city treasury amounts to about $4000. He said that out of courtesy to the mayor he would prefer to have the mayor give out any news in regard to the loan ordinance."

Bonds to the amount of $8000 mature today. City Treasurer Kelleher made the statement last night that the city has enough money to meet all bonds, notes or interest thereon that may be presented today.

COL. ROOSEVELT

SENT HIS CONGRATULATIONS TO THE TON FAMILY

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Knowing President Roosevelt's encouragement of large families, the Tons, said to be the largest family in America, invited him to address their annual reunion, which was held yesterday at Blue Island near this city. He sent his blessing in the following letter:

"It you realized the innumerable requests I receive to make speeches you would know that it is out of the question for me to consider anything in the nature of a private invitation. All I can do is to express my cordial good wishes to the whole Ton family."

"I like to read of an American family of 501 living members of the type I am sure the Tons are, which still have been accumulated in little over a half century."

FRANK GOTCH

ARRIVES IN CHICAGO FOR MATCH WITH "HACK"

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Champion Frank Gotch arrived here this morning from Humboldt, Iowa, and went to a downtown hotel, where he will remain until Monday when he wrestles George Hackenschmidt for the championship of the world. He will continue training at the Chicago A. C.

PRESIDENT TAFT

SAYS THAT COCK FIGHTS AND DOG FIGHTS MUST CEASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Cock fights, dog fights and bull fights, dear to the Latin-American heart, will soon disappear from the Panama canal zone. President Taft has issued an executive order, effective Labor day, placing all contests between birds or animals of any kind on the zone in the same prohibited class as prize fights between men, under pain of fine or imprisonment.

The Notre Dame de Lourdes parochial school in Branch street will open up Tuesday, Sept. 5, after the summer vacation. There will not be any changes on the teachers' staff, but one more grade, the 8th has been added to the studies. Two Sisters of the Grey Nuns of the Cross are in charge and they are assisted by four other teachers. It is expected that 375 children, boys and girls will be in attendance next year.

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR TONIC

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE
In a recent issue the New York Herald published a special article on the care of the hair, in which was given the formula for a home-made Hair Tonic, which was highly recommended for its remarkable hair-growing properties, as well as for stopping falling hair, revitalizing the hair roots, destroying the dandruff germ and restoring gray hair to its natural color. This article was of special interest to me, as the formula for one which myself have prescribed in countless cases with most astonishing results. I remember one case in particular in which I prescribed it for a man who had been bald for many years, and in less than two months after he began its use his head was completely covered with a luxuriant growth of rich, glossy hair, thus proving that hair can be made to grow on a bald head, notwithstanding the opinion of many persons to the contrary.

For the benefit of those who have not seen it before, I give the formula herewith: 6 ounces of Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavone de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and then add the Lavone de Composee; shake thoroughly and apply night and morning to the roots of the hair, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. This preparation contains no coloring matter, but restores gray hair to its natural color by its action on the hair roots. If you desire it to be perfumed, add a teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which combines perfectly with the other ingredients and imparts a most pleasing scent.

Before publication we presented this prescription to Riker-Jaynes Drug Co., this city, and they state that they have used it many times for their patrons who report most astonishing results from its use.

THE "CITY FLIRT"

As Defined by Chicago Police Captain

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—An official definition of flirting was given yesterday by Captain Halpin, acting head of the detective bureau, when a young woman, whose services as "city flirt" had been accepted, started down State street accompanied by a detective.

"If a man only looks at the young woman," said the captain to the plain clothes man, giving him instructions in his novel duty, "or if he goes up to her, takes off his hat and asks if she is not Miss So and So, then passes on, well, that isn't exactly flirting. But if he is a stickler and asks her to walk with him and really gets offensive, well, that's flirting and the man is a 'mascher'."

After a two hours' stroll on State street the young woman returned to the Central police station without encountering a single "mascher." "It surely seems as if Chicago men are gentlemen," said the young woman.

NARROW ESCAPE

MEMBERS OF CREW OF REVENUE CUTTER NEARLY DROWNED

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1.—Six members of the crew of the revenue cutter Hawk who were searching for a deserting member of the crew had a narrow escape from drowning last night when the gasoline tank of their launch exploded, forcing the men to jump overboard. They were all rescued by a man in a rowboat. Two of the men, Seaman Lawton and Coxswain Laughlin were severely burned. No reason has been assigned for the accident.

MOROCCAN QUESTION

Germany Has Not Yet Accepted the French Proposals

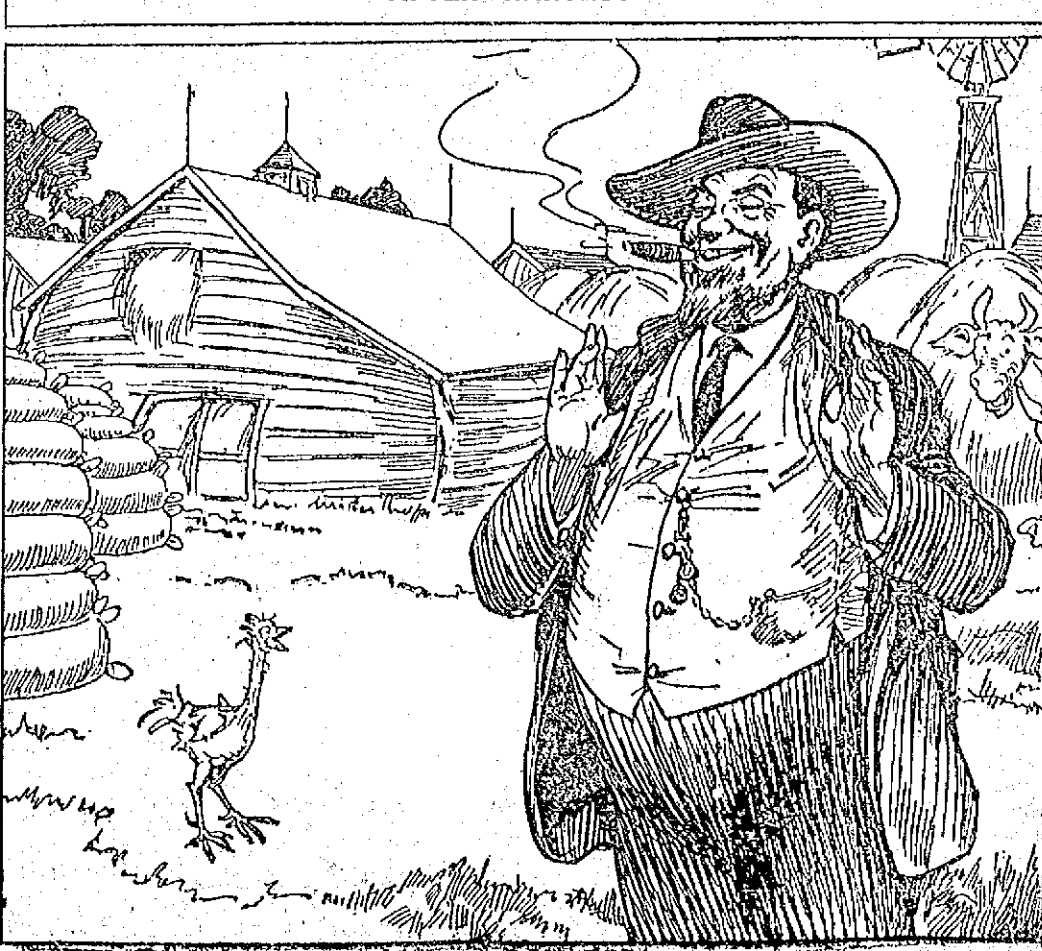

PARIS, Sept. 1.—The French foreign office, it is understood, has not secured any sure indication that Germany will accept the French proposals for a settlement of the Moroccan question yet a measure of confidence is felt in an early agreement because of the extent of the compensations which are to be offered by France. Since these are central African areas it is not supposed that Germany would proceed to extreme lengths over a few thousand square miles more or less. The real difficulty in the way of an early settlement, it is believed at the foreign office, lies in a special commercial and mining guarantee which Germany may seek in Morocco, as nothing can be given Germany in Morocco which Great Britain does not possess. Besides, anything like special privileges would afford endless occasions for the opening of the controversy on questions of precedence. The French and British governments had the fullest mutual agreement on this phase of the Franco-German dispute.

SEARCHING FOR DERELICTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The derelict destroyer Seneca of the United States revenue cutter service weighed anchor and steamed out of the harbor today in quest of derelicts of the seven day storm ending last night. She left without destination but will probably patrol the path of coastwise vessels to southern ports.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BUTTONS EVEN ON HER KIMONA NOW

So great is the craze for buttons that even negligees are being trimmed with them now. This comfortable bath gown of printed flannel is trimmed with satin bands in matching color and flat buttons, also covered with the satin.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES

Sensible Dress For the Warm Weather

The most sensible costume for the little girl under seven is a romper costume.

If this is intended for seashore wear the colors should be as dark as possible, as frequent washings and the salt air soon fade them into shabbiness.

For dressy occasions white gowns are much more practical, as they can be carried with pink or blue bows and worn with any costume, and also they do not fade.

White linen or pique made with a flat Dutch collar and a side fastening is particularly smart if the edges are buttonholed in some attractive color, to which the leathery belt is matched.

For play brown or tan linen is very smart stitched in deeper brown with brown belt and shoes.

In general, plaited and ruffled models should be used as little as possible on very young children as they are hard to do up and unsuitable.

Little girls of two, three and four whose figures are not too curved may wear boys' Russian blouse suits for play purposes.

The short waisted frock of embroidery is smart for dressy occasions for the little girl who is seven years old and older. This is simply planned, with a crossed over surplice effect waist, kimono sleeves made of the edge and a pale blue or pale pink cord for the waist line. For party occasions these dresses may be worn over pale blue or pale pink lawn.

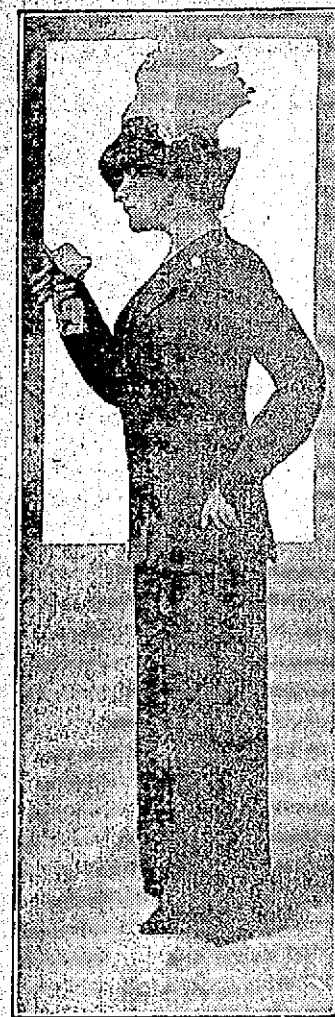

For schoolgirls a square necked, elbowed sleeve Russian blouse is smart worn loosely belted over a plaited skirt.

Oriental embroideries may be combined with dark blue, brown or green materials and the belt be matched to the trimming.

For boys the Norfolk jacket of blue serge and the white duck knicker are very smart, and of course the all white coat and loose knickers.

Very little caps are wearing jersey suits of white silk and cotton composed of loose knickerbockers and a sailor blouse which hangs straight without a belt.

NEW FALL FASHIONS

A peep at fall fashions is afforded here. The lines of this trim little suit of black cloth are particularly graceful, and the skirt suggests the flared effect so fashionable in Paris now. The coat has a collar of velvet, with an overfacing of uncut blue and white velvet. The hat shows the new roll upward at the back.

PREFERS HER HUSBAND

Woman Willing to Give up a Fortune of $600,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—"I prize my home and my husband and children's love more than anything in the world," said Mrs. Mae Defney Baldwin at her home in Milford, Conn., last night, "but my uncle's will left me his estate of $600,000, and I simply ask for my rights under the law."

"It is true the will speaks of my marrying a young man who was attentive to me years ago, but this will simply reads: 'It is my wish that my niece, Mae, marry the young man mentioned.' It does not order me to marry him, and I have no idea of leaving my husband or my children."

"My husband has always worked hard and has done the best he could for me. We have always had a happy home, if it was an humble one, and not even the fortune of John D. Rockefeller could induce me to leave my dear ones at home."

"My relatives bitterly opposed my marriage to Mr. Baldwin. I left a home of luxury to become his wife, but nothing in this world can take the place of the love of husband and children."

"One of my happiest recollections is of romping through the halls of my uncle's great house in Minneapolis and riding his horses over the prairie. Our life here has been a struggle, but we have never ceased to be happy."

Nothing could induce Mrs. Baldwin to talk concerning her relatives, or the details of the will of her uncle, J. J. Day of Minneapolis, who died several weeks ago, leaving her more than $600,000.

She talked freely of herself and her home, but refused to drag her relatives' affairs into discussion.

Mrs. Baldwin is a pretty brunette, thirty-five years old. Even the years of toil and suffering since she eloped with Oliver Baldwin, a blacksmith, have not destroyed the freshness of her beauty, although her dress and the arrangement of her hair were plain and simple today, and she was suffering from a recent illness.

Her mother died when she was a week old, and she was taken to the home of her uncle. She resided with him till she was nineteen years old, when she went to Milford for a visit.

The seashore was new to her, and one day she engaged in a frolic with Ollie Baldwin. They playfully splashed each other in the water and thus formed a friendship that resulted in an elopement. Baldwin became the village blacksmith. His bride was disowned by her wealthy relatives.

The couple have struggled against poverty and sickness and say that, if need be, they are willing to keep up the struggle. One of the reasons why the relatives of Mae Defney objected to her marriage to Baldwin was that she is a Catholic while he is a Protestant.

Baldwin two years ago was received into full communion in the Catholic church.

The millionaire uncle inserted in his will a clause containing his wish that she marry George Curtiss, of Minneapolis. It is not believed it will prove an obstacle to the fulfillment of the will's declarations. Mrs. Baldwin has placed the matter in a lawyer's hands in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Day, widow of the millionaire, spent thousands of dollars advertising for the missing heiress. She inserted the following notice in newspapers all over the middle west and east:

"Mae Defney Baldwin—If you see this in the paper, please let me know. Your uncle is dead, and he left you well off in money and property. Please notify your old school friend, George, or your cousin, Dr. Clark. Your loving aunt, Mrs. Day."

Neighbors of the Baldwins believe scouts are watching them. Mysterious spots have been seen in the vicinity of the cottage on the New Haven turnpike, where the family lives.

CHAS. M. DICKEY

ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF VIOLATING LIQUOR LAW

LAWRENCE, Sept. 1.—Charles M. Dickey, lessee of the Franklin House, appeared as a defendant in the police court Thursday morning, he being charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance. The case grew out of the comments made by Judge J. J. Mahoney on the evidence which developed in the larceny cases of John Gravel, Thomas Him and George Tanguay which were heard Wednesday and which were continued until Friday for disposition. The evidence in that case showed that the defendants went to Mr. Dickey's place and bought and drank beer and whisky on Sunday and that no food of any kind was served to them.

Mr. Dickey appeared in a blue suit and showed a very neat appearance. His counsel was J. J. Sullivan. When Mr. Dickey was called to plead, he said "Not guilty."

Immediately Attorney Sullivan said that he appeared for the defendant and a continuance of the case was asked for. The court said he would grant a continuance until Friday but Attorney Sullivan desired longer as he said he had become acquainted with the case only a few minutes before court and that there was considerable evidence to be secured for the defense that it would be difficult to secure in such a short time. He asked for a longer time than until Friday.

Judge Mahoney said that there were a number of cases pending which revolved about the case of Mr. Dickey and he desired to have them disposed of and closed. He said that there were only two transactions that could be considered in connection with the Dickey case, those being the actions of some young men last Friday night and those of another group last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Sullivan said he desired to secure witness who would testify as to the character of the hotel.

A BASE BALL FIGHT

American Association May Fight the National Commission

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 1.—Whether or not the American Association will withdraw from the National agreement and declare war on the major leagues is now up to the members of that organization. The National baseball commission having denied all its demands at a meeting held here yesterday.

The commission gave the American association until Sept. 10 to answer whether they will operate under the national agreement. At the same time the commission makes it plain that if the association decides to withdraw from the national agreement, organized baseball would continue to flourish in the eight cities of the association.

When President Chivington of the American association heard of the decision of the commission he would not say what action his organization would take.

The National baseball commission, in its decision on the American association case says:

"The commission is unanimous in the conclusion that it is without authority to act on the petition formulated by the American association at a special meeting held in Chicago on August 1, 1911, for the reason that the concessions applied for can be granted only by amending the national agreement in several places which requires the affirmative vote of each of the parties thereto, to wit: The National and American leagues, parties of the first part, and the National association, parties of the second part.

"Firmly convinced that a disturbance of the delicate adjustment of conditions and relations under which organized baseball has attained prestige and prosperity, that will continue as long as its cardinal principles are observed, the commission will recommend to the several parties to the national agreement that the radical and unreasonable requests of the American association for recognition as an independent organization along the lines of its petition, be rejected.

"A high standard of sportsmanship and square dealing with patrons and players in the operation of leagues and conducts of clubs is as essential to the maintenance of the game on an elevated plane as exhibitions of skill and keen competition on the playing field. A strong central government, capable of checking club owners as well as controlling players affords the only possible guarantee of the retention by the game of absolute public confidence in its integrity and methods, and unless assured of the 'promotion' of their welfare as a class by developing and perfecting them in their profession and enabling them to secure adequate compensation for expertness the most potent incentive to players to give their best efforts will be impaired. As 'purity' of the game cannot be maintained and protection to players in their professional prerogatives cannot be extended by the tribunal of organized baseball beyond its own ranks, the commission deems it dangerous to permit a league to enjoy benefits under the national agreement without assuming all the obligations and responsibilities imposed by membership in one of the parties to the national agreement. Practically from the commencement of its connection with the National association, the American association has been assertive to the point of aggressiveness in its demands upon the major and minor leagues for special legislation in its behalf. Such concessions as were compatible with the paramount interests of organized baseball have been granted to all Class A clubs. The exercise of the draft by major league clubs on Class A clubs was in 1906 restricted to one player annually from each club. In 1909 an agreement was created for the American association, the Eastern league and the Pacific coast league and additional advantages and privileges, which could not be curtailed without the concurrence of all parties to the national agreement, were conferred on them. This revised national agreement was promulgated by the commission in March, 1909, but was rescinded when the American association and the Eastern league refused to ratify it formally, although its acceptance by them had been made a matter of record over the signature of the attorney who represented them at the conference with the commission.

"With this experience in mind the commission is at loss to determine to what extent the petition now before it is an expression of the real views and purposes of those who presented it.

"The preamble to this petition recites that the membership of the American association will expire by limitation on Sept. 6, 1911, and the petition desires to remain in organized baseball, independent of the National association. A transcript of the records of its annual meeting in 1909 submitted by Secretary Farrell, shows that the life of the National association was extended to September 6, 1911, the American association vote being cast in the affirmative by Mr. Grayson of the Louisville club, who held the written proxy of President J. B. O'Brien with the approval of the National association by the adoption of the motion of Judge Kavanaugh (that such recognition be accorded to Mr. Grayson).

"The contention raised by the production of the National association's record is not based on the fact that the commission at this time, but inasmuch as the American association predicated its petition of August 1, upon its alleged 'freedom of allegiance to the agreement of the National association after September 6, 1911, its importance cannot be overestimated.

"The several demands embraced in that petition are taken up and discussed in their numerical order.

"The drafting of 'privileges' the commission says, 'cannot be bridged without infringing on the rights of a player to advance in his profession as guaranteed by the third paragraph of the preamble to the National agreement. The proposal of the American association to permit the selection of one player at a fixed price of $5000 without regard to his intrinsic value, cannot be seriously entertained by practical baseball. Nor is there a valid reason for advancing the period of selection from September 1 to July 1, for not until the latter part of August can a real line be had on the prospects of a player to make good in fast company.

"That the condition of rule 36 of the national agreement shall apply to the American association as it now applies to major leagues and that the clubs of the American association shall have the right to go into the market and purchase players under the same conditions as the major leagues now do.

"Should the American association be accorded equal privileges in recruiting its teams with the National and American leagues either as an independent league or as a member of Class A, there is grave reason to apprehend that the control of the most promising players of the Class B, C and D leagues would, in many instances, be congested for speculative purposes in American association clubs and that the recruiting of major league teams would be seriously handicapped.

"The contention that the draft depicts the playing strength of each American association club at the close of every season is not sustained by statistics. The average number of drafts from 1906 to 1910, inclusive, from American league clubs was 28. Twelve of these players were retained beyond the succeeding season, but a small percentage of them become major league fixtures."

President Chivington of the American association issued a statement last night in which he said:

"The second clause, covering the selection by the major leagues of one ball player from each club by purchase at a fixed price of $5000 is intended to carry out one of the first principles of organized baseball, enabling capable ball players to advance in their profession. It is also intended to check brokerage in baseball players, one of the most pernicious developments of the present laws governing the purchase and sale of players. With purchase price of $5000 only, the players whose services are needed will be taken from the American association.

"The American association stands ready to make a sacrifice for this change, as the major league clubs would not again be called upon to pay such prices as were paid for Marquard, Hunter and O'Toole.

"The only advantage sought by the American association in this respect is that its teams would be torn to pieces each year.

"The American association is freed from the National association by the expiration of its agreement and prefers not to again become identified with an organization that has shown itself antagonistic to the interests of the American association in all legislative actions."

President Chivington further said: "I intend to call a meeting of the American association in the near future and until this matter is taken up by my league I cannot say what will happen."

Immediately after passing upon the demands of the American association the commission took up the requests of the Eastern league. While the petitions were under public eye it is said that the only one of any importance is a plea that the drafting system for Class A clubs be eliminated entirely, and that a straight purchasing system be instituted. The commission will consider their demands further and may not be able to act upon them at the meeting.

The annual drafting process will take place today.

The appeal of Player Connell of the Springfield, Mass. club from a decision of the national board was granted. Seventy-five dollars was remitted from the player's fine, and he is required to pay the remaining $25.

Application of Player Joy of the was refused. Joy was suspended for not reporting.

POST-SEASON GAMES

Springfield Wants to Play Lowell a Series

The manager of the Springfield team has proposed to Manager Gray of the Lowell team that if their teams win the championships in the Connecticut and New England leagues they play a series of seven games at the close of the regular season.

Manager Gray has also received a proposition to play at Frederickton and St. John, N. B. following the close of the regular season.

BASE BALL MEN

GATHERING IN GREAT NUMBERS IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 1.—Previous to the second day's meeting of the national baseball commission this morning there was a great gathering of magnates in the lobby of the hotel at which the commission is holding its sessions. Each arriving train contributed its quota of baseball men, who want to be on the ground to observe the annual draft which is to take place today. The ruling of the national commission in which it refused the demands of the American association and gave that organization until Sept. 10 to decide if it wanted to remain in organized baseball was the one topic of discussion.

people would intimate what course their organization would pursue, bold statements were made that a big baseball war was imminent.

The work of the commission today will be entirely confined to drafting and considering the request of the Eastern league for more privileges.

It is hardly possible that the commission will come to any conclusion today on the latter subject as it is believed that the drafting proceedings will occupy the greater part of the day.

A huge bundle of mail is in custody of Secretary Bruce, each particular letter of which contains drafts for one or more players. The opening and assorting of these drafts is expected to consume most of the day, and real business of drafting will be late in the afternoon.

DIAMOND NOTES

Double-header at Lawrence today. Lawrence plays here tomorrow.

Wolfgang or Yount for the first game and Wolfgang, Yount or Maybom in the second.

Robert Hedges of the St. Louis Americans has written to Magnus, Moulton and Wolfgang asking for their present and their winter addresses.

A whole lot of useless talk is being made over Lawrence which he had in seeing. Some changes will be made in the schedule on the part of Lawrence and Worcester. It's too bad if these two teams are going to spoil a good fight by showing the yellow at the last moment. Be game, brothers, and take whatever medicine the doctor orders.

All minor leaguers will carefully scan the papers today, for this is the day that the big leagues draft them. The drafting takes place at Cincinnati.

It's a good bet that Murphy will go higher, whether by draft or otherwise.

There were no games anywhere yesterday.

Next Saturday afternoon there will be an interesting ball game on the Polham grounds, when the home team lines up against the Y. M. C. A.'s amateur champions of Lowell. It will be a good, clean, snappy contest from start to finish, and will be well worth seeing. Some changes will be made in Polham's outfield which will strengthen the home team greatly. The battery for the home team has not been decided upon as yet, but a good box array will be secured. Labor day the local team will go to Milford, N. H., where they will play two games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, with the strong semi-professional team of that town. The game on next Saturday is scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon there will be one of the best amateur games of the season, when the O. M. I. Cadet Juniors will cross bats with the Lyngshoro Juniors. Game will start at 2 o'clock sharp. All the Cadet players are requested to be at drill Friday night, Grounds, South common.

Capt. Jesse Burkett announced yesterday afternoon that he has signed Joseph C. Feaster, a young Philadelphia twirler, who has been creating a sensation throughout the lots of the Quaker town by his fine slab work. He will not report until next season, Worcester Post.

Where have we heard that name before? Yes, he was here. Connie Mack sent him over, and he turned right back again.

Burkett will give Lynn battle at Ocean Park in an effort to win and beat Lowell out for the pennant. It will be for blood, so fans will be given an opportunity to see Burkett in fighting trim. He wants the pennant again. Much depends on the games Lynn has to play with his team. Should Lynn win a doubleheader it will certainly greatly lessen his chances of taking the flag, Lynn Item.

"Billy" Hamilton, ex-manager of the Lynn club, now scout for the Boston Nationals, and Fred Lake, now in Roslindale, are scouting for St. Louis Browns, are going to Cincinnati to look after their respective clubs' interests at the drafting for players drafted by the major league, which takes place Friday. At least 20 players from the New England league have been drafted as a result of their fine showing, Lynn Item.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Buntings will play the Pawtucketville blues on the Textile campus Saturday afternoon. Game called at 2:30. The Buntings want 3 or 4 more games. Would like to hear from the Y. M. C. I. Brookside, Y. M. C. A. or any other good teams. Address G. M. Roberts, 31 Potter street, city.

The Brookside will play the South Pines at Collinsville, Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock for a purse of $50. Extra efforts will be made to insure a good playing space, and the spectators will not be allowed to go near the lines at all. Joseph Cronin has agreed to umpire and one of the best games of the season should be the verdict. Monday the Brookside will journey to Shirley the players to be at Merrimack Square to get the 11:15 car to Ayer.

The Independents of North Billerica have an open date Sept. 9, and would like to arrange a game with the Union of North Chelmsford for that date. Game to be played on New grounds, Address P. O. Box 255, North Billerica, Mass.

The married and single men of the Lawrence hospital will play a game of baseball on the Textile campus this afternoon.

This game has been scheduled for 2 weeks, but rain has caused a postponement both times. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock with the following batteries: McAlister and Estabrook for the married men; Sheehan and Bianchette for the single men.

The Spauldings will accept the challenge of the St. Andrew's for a game to be played on September 2nd, but have no open date for the 4th.

The Red Sox baseball team please report to the Hurd street bowling alleys at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Independents of North Billerica will go to Maynard Saturday to play the strong Maynard A. C. of that place. The batteries will be: Coudon and Switzer for the Independents; Sweeney and Coleman for Maynard.

On Saturday the Y. M. C. I. baseball team will go to Pelham to play the strong team of that town and a good game is expected. The local players will take the 1:15 car from the square.

TWO GOOD BOUTS

But Main Event Did Not Materialize

The inclement weather interfered with the attendance at the opening meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club, last evening and as a result Billy Glover and Jimmie Moriarty who were to be the main attraction did not materialize, and the members were given "rain checks."

Two good preliminaries were enjoyed. The first was between Young Welsh of Lowell and Young Dubois of Wakefield which went six rounds to a draw. In the second preliminary Young Stone of Lowell defeated Young Rothwell of Lawrence in the second round of a six round bout. Matty Carney made a satisfactory referee.

HIS SON DROWNED

Father Struggled in Vain to Save Him

BIDDEFORD POOL, Me., Sept. 1.—Alone in stormy waters, with rain falling in sheets, a heavy surf running and darkness coming on, a father and son struggled on the beach here yesterday evening, the parent seeking to rescue his drowning boy.

After continuing his efforts to the point of exhaustion, the father was overcome and the 13-year-old boy, Herbert Hill, was drowned. His father, F. Max Hill, a Montreal business man, was cast up on the beach, barely conscious, and found his way to his hotel in a sub-conscious manner. Grief at the loss of his son and his own physical exhaustion have left him in such a state the attendance of a physician was necessary. He will recover, however.

Father and son went bathing late yesterday afternoon from the hotel where they had been stopping, with other members of the family. The young man swam out some distance, breasting the heavy seas. Returning, however, he became tired and his stroke weakened. He cried to his father for help. The parent reached the lad's side just as he was about to go down, and, grasping him, endeavored to tow him ashore. But the young man resisted the attempts to save him and struggled with his father. The fight for his son's life wore on the strength of Mr. Hill and he became so exhausted that the boy tore away from him. He was caught in the undertow and swept away.

Mr. Hill knows little of what happened afterward. He cannot recall how he got to shore, remembering only vaguely that he found himself on the beach, with the rain pouring down and that he knew he must get to his hotel. Arrived there, his loss was recalled to him and he broke down.

MILADY'S HAT AND SHOPPING BAG MUST MATCH.

JUDGING from the advanced display of millinery, it looks as if we are in for another spell of eccentric headgear. Exaggeration is the note that has been struck pretty hard for the last two or three seasons, and there are those among us who would go a step further and call it a reign of caricature. Most of the modes of the moment are strange, striking, wonderful, audacious, but many are charming.

Still, those that are "pretty" and "becoming" are hardly in the majority, and when it comes to the question of the general appearance of a crowd of women the result is grotesque, and even in the smartest places the eccentricity of the dress of the day makes a woman of quiet and refined taste recoil rather painfully, particularly in the matter of hats.

At the beginning of each season there is a popular model that for a few weeks carries all before it. This season the "object all sublime" is the skyscraper chapeau. It isn't quite forty-two stories high, but it does go up twenty-two inches in the air—that is, the trimming reaches this giddy millinery height. There is very little brim to this model, but very much altitude in the way of wings, ribbon loops and stiff eared velvet bows. This hat will be taken up by the multitude and never even tolerated by the best gowning women.

Small shapes are likely to win out in the fashion race, and perhaps the most striking among them have high round or pointed crowns with narrow rolling brims. The trimming used on these shapes is a fancy feathered arrangement placed directly in front, or the entire crown may be formed of small wings placed in an upright position. By the way, trimmed crowns are going to be prominent features of the best hats, and marabou combined with ostrich feathers is a favorite expression of this vogue. The greatest novelty is the tall of the gourd, which is taking the place of the tabouret all over.

The newest trimming, though, is found in bands of colored embroidery done in worsteds and chenille, with metal or silk threads interwoven. These worsted designs are not confined to trimming bands, for a charming French model in semitailored effect has its velvet brim outlined with worsted designs.

Fringes that have been so popular as a revived style on gowns now appears on millinery. It is applied in narrow rows about the tall conical crowns of medium sized hats, while on the picture models it hangs in lamp shade fashion around the edge of the brim—a fine outlook for the oculist if this dangling adornment reaches an extreme vogue.

The coloring most observed in the new millinery is coronation red, mustard or old gold and empire green, with conservative browns and black and white effects well in evidence.

The tiny close fitting cap will be worn for evening wear and the moderately large picture hat for dressy afternoon and restaurant use. Ribbons usually take first place in trimmings, and on a number of models they are arranged to simulate wings or are used in conjunction with the feathered variety.

One of the hats—a French creation—seen among the cuts gives a good idea of the use of a cabochon made of feathers that will figure in fall millinery. The hat is of black flexible felt and the feathered band in shades of gray and coral. The long wing at the back is black.

The brimless Egyptian turban is an autumn style that has many of the earmarks of the summer model. The new feature, however, is the drapery of contrasting material. If the turban is of silk the brim, or what should be a brim, is of velvet, or vice versa. In this case the turban is of seal brown hatter's plush, with a turned back brim of moiré silk and at one side a knot of dull gilt braid. The sharply turned back brim gives a new touch, and the little curl straying down behind the ear is a coquettish fancy added by some women.

A smart fancy is to have the small hat and huge hand bag match. And some of the smart little helmet hats that will be worn with tailored suits are accompanied by these hand bags. The hat pictured in the center of the group has a reticelle of gold colored velvet, braided with fine white soutache, a heavier soutache being worked into a bolder pattern over this ground.

And let me whisper in your ear, my sisters—the fall millinery is smart, but not becoming, and to wear a difficult vogue in triumph does not always mean that the wearer looks her best. Far from it. The aim is to be fashionable, and there will have to be much facial beauty sacrificed to the dictates of la mode.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

A NICE way to use cold roast lamb is season it with peas and mayonnaise. Drain a can of peas and if they have a slightly "tinny" flavor rinse them in cold water. If this is quickly done they will not be water soaked nor injured in the least, but improved very much. Have ready a cupful of stiff mayonnaise and arrange it with the peas as a garnish to the lamb, which should be cut in very thin slices of uniform size.

Rice puffs are wonderfully good. Place a pint of cold boiled rice, a cup of sweet milk, three beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt into a mixing dish. Stir together, then add enough flour to make a batter. Drop spoonfuls of the rice mixture into hot fat, fry brown and drain on cloth to remove all possible grease. Dust with powdered sugar and serve hot. These make a delicious luncheon course.

For brandy peaches use large free-stone peaches, either white or yellow.

but not too ripe. Scald with boiling water and allow them to stand covered until the water is chilled. Scald a second time in the same way. Remove the peaches and place them on an absorbent cloth to dry, put the fruit in stone jars and cover with brandy. Cover the jars with paper and let them remain a week. Make a sirup of one pound of granulated sugar and a half pint of water to each pound of peaches and cook until tender. Remove the peaches, drain and place in glass jars. Set the sirup to cool, mix with equal parts of the brandy used for the peaches, pour over them in the jars and seal.

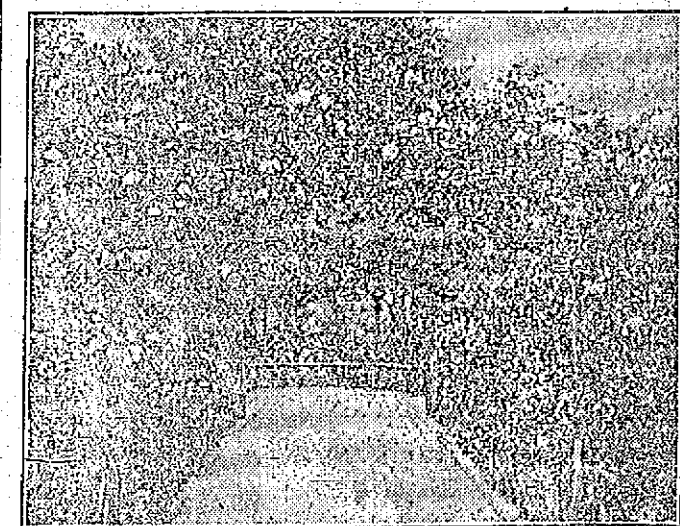

Broiled bluefish is very popular at this time of the year and is never better than when served with the following hodgepodge as an accompaniment: Cook a cupful of rice in a quart of boiling water until tender, then stir in a quart can of tomatoes or a quart of fresh ones, add three or four little onions and one or two peppers cut in dice and fried in butter. Season well with salt and pepper and cook until thick.

WHITENING PASTE FOR RED HANDS

It happens sometimes that just when one desires to have the hands look their best they grow red and ugly. It is always well to have something at hand that can be quickly applied by which the redness of the hands can be temporarily hidden. An excellent paste for this purpose may be made by mixing the following ingredients: Three and one-half ounces of oil of almonds, one and one-half ounces of lanolin, one ounce each of white wax and spermaceti, one ounce of subnitrate of bismuth and one-eighth of an ounce of oil of bitter almonds.

Melt the spermaceti and wax over a water bath, then add the lanolin and oil of almonds, remove from the bath, add the bitter almonds and when the oils are well blended sift the subnitrate of bismuth into the oils, constantly stirring until smooth and creamy. This cream is too strikingly white to be used on the face, but may be applied to the hands and arms whenever occasion demands with the most gratifying results. It is always best to make the application after washing the hands and arms well with soap and tepid water.

NEXT YEAR'S GARDEN

ROSE COVERED ARBOR AND PERGOLA.

PERHAPS during the past summer you have felt the need of an arbor in the garden fitted with a few chairs and a table—a place, in short, where you could invite your soul on a hot day or in which you could beat a retreat with a favorite book. If you have enough ground about your home, why not build such an arbor with a pergola leading to it? It may be of simple structure, but it should be substantial, and the more rustic in appearance the better when it becomes well furnished with growth. In its decoration annual as well as perennial things may be used. Rambling roses, honeysuckle, clematis of all kinds and Virginia creeper, Japanese variegated hops and climbing nasturtiums are a few of the suitable plants. That most of these remain dormant during the winter is no drawback, as the chief use of the pergola is to provide shelter from sunshine in summer.

SMART AUTUMN COSTUME

COAT DRESS FOR COOL DAYS.

POISON IVY CURES

TO guard against this poison is to learn it before you touch it. The leaf of this plant and that of the Virginia creeper closely resemble each other in the number of leaves. The poison ivy has only three leaves, while the other has five.

The first symptom of the ivy poison appears in clusters of minute pimples, changing the next day to blisters, with intense itching and surrounded with vivid red, lasting from five to ten days.

Washing the parts with a great deal of cheap laundry soap is often beneficial. Soda and water or lime water relieves. It protects the surface and prevents itching.

Poisoned wounds from stings and bites from bees and bugs are slight injuries unless irritating substances are carried in with the bite. When the skin around the bite turns black and blue or has small blisters call a doctor. Apply cold compresses and zinc ointment for the alleviation of the trouble.

YOUR PET DOG.

All the world may read what beauty doctors advertise that they can do for man and woman. In Paris the dog also is looked after. A veterinary surgeon there sends out a prospectus in which the following list of charges is drawn up:

Alteration of the shape of the muzzle, 50 francs.
Insertion of wrinkles on the face of a bulldog, 30 francs.
Change of the size of the tail, 20 francs.
Removal of superfluous hair, 5 francs an hour.
Change of the color of the skin, 20 francs.

SEA FOAM CANDY.

A homemade candy that "melts in your mouth" is sea foam. It is not hard to make, nor is it expensive.

For sea foam candy cook three cupfuls of light brown sugar, a cupful of water and a tablespoonful of vinegar until the sirup forms a hard ball when dropped into cold water. Pour it slowly over the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, beating continually until the candy is stiff enough to hold its shape. Then work in half a cupful of chopped nuts and half a teaspoonful of vanilla. Drop in small pieces on waxed paper.

AN INEXPENSIVE AMUSEMENT.

"Did you ever," said Belinda, "try standing cents on edge? It can be done if the cents are not worn. They can most easily be made to stand on blotting paper, but they will stand on a smooth, polished table. Try it some time when other amusements flag."

What to Do When Servants Are Always Leaving

GIVE up blaming the servants and try and find out the real reason why they won't stay. It is more likely to be the fault of the place than of the maids when one after another give notice "that they're going." Domestic rarely explain why they are leaving. A sort of delirious bids them make the excuse that "mother is ill" or they have a chance of "bettering themselves."

Perhaps you are too easy going. Many mistresses think it is kind to let their maids get into slack habits. They imagine that they like a loose rein. But, strange to say, they don't. They prefer to be kept within bounds and up to the mark. Maggie realizes that the mistress who is always saying "That will do" and "Never mind" and puts up with anything is ruining her for another place.

Besides, the easy going mistress usually indulges in temporary fits of discipline. She lets things take care of themselves up to a certain point; then suddenly she realizes the pitch they are going and reaction comes for a few days and military discipline prevails. It is during this time that Maggie gives notice to leave, the violent change having been too much for her.

On the other hand, you may expect too much of Maggie. It is perfectly natural that you should want your house beautifully kept, but you must remember that there is a limit to the amount of work one pair of hands can do. Maggie can't be cook and up stairs girl in one.

Perhaps you are thoughtless about Maggie's "evening out" and change the day continually. That is very trying to a girl whose young man possibly is free only on one night. You might just as well ask the Browns another night to dinner and let Maggie have her Wednesdays.

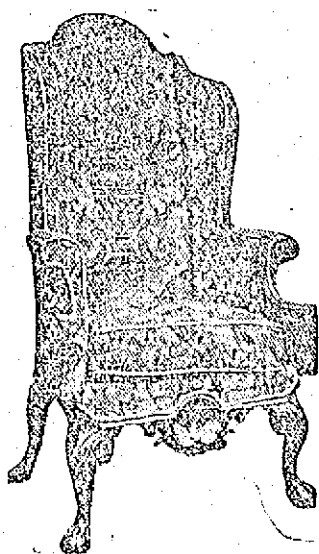

A mistress who occasionally takes care that her maid has an hour off is a mistress who finds it easy to keep servants. There is much, thoughtless ringing of bells, many unnecessary demands made upon the maid for outside work when Maggie would appreciate a little time to herself.

gifts—that is, something that they will really like and use.

THE NEW MAYONNAISE MIXER.

THERE is no excuse for poor mayonnaise dressing if the sauce is made in one of the new mayonnaise mixers, which literally takes all responsibility from the cook's shoulders.

The mixer illustrated is of this approved sort. In the measuring device are cups of just the right size for the appropriate amount of salt, mustard, vinegar and powdered sugar. When these have been blended with the yolk of a raw egg the oil is poured into the funnel attached to the beater and is delivered drop by drop into the mayonnaise.

Of course every good housewife knows that vinegar should not be allowed to touch a mayonnaise dressing until the very last moment, and then only a very little should be added.

This convenience is not expensive and soon pays for itself in the saving of ingredients lost in the making.

Flower Luncheons Are Smart And Up to Date

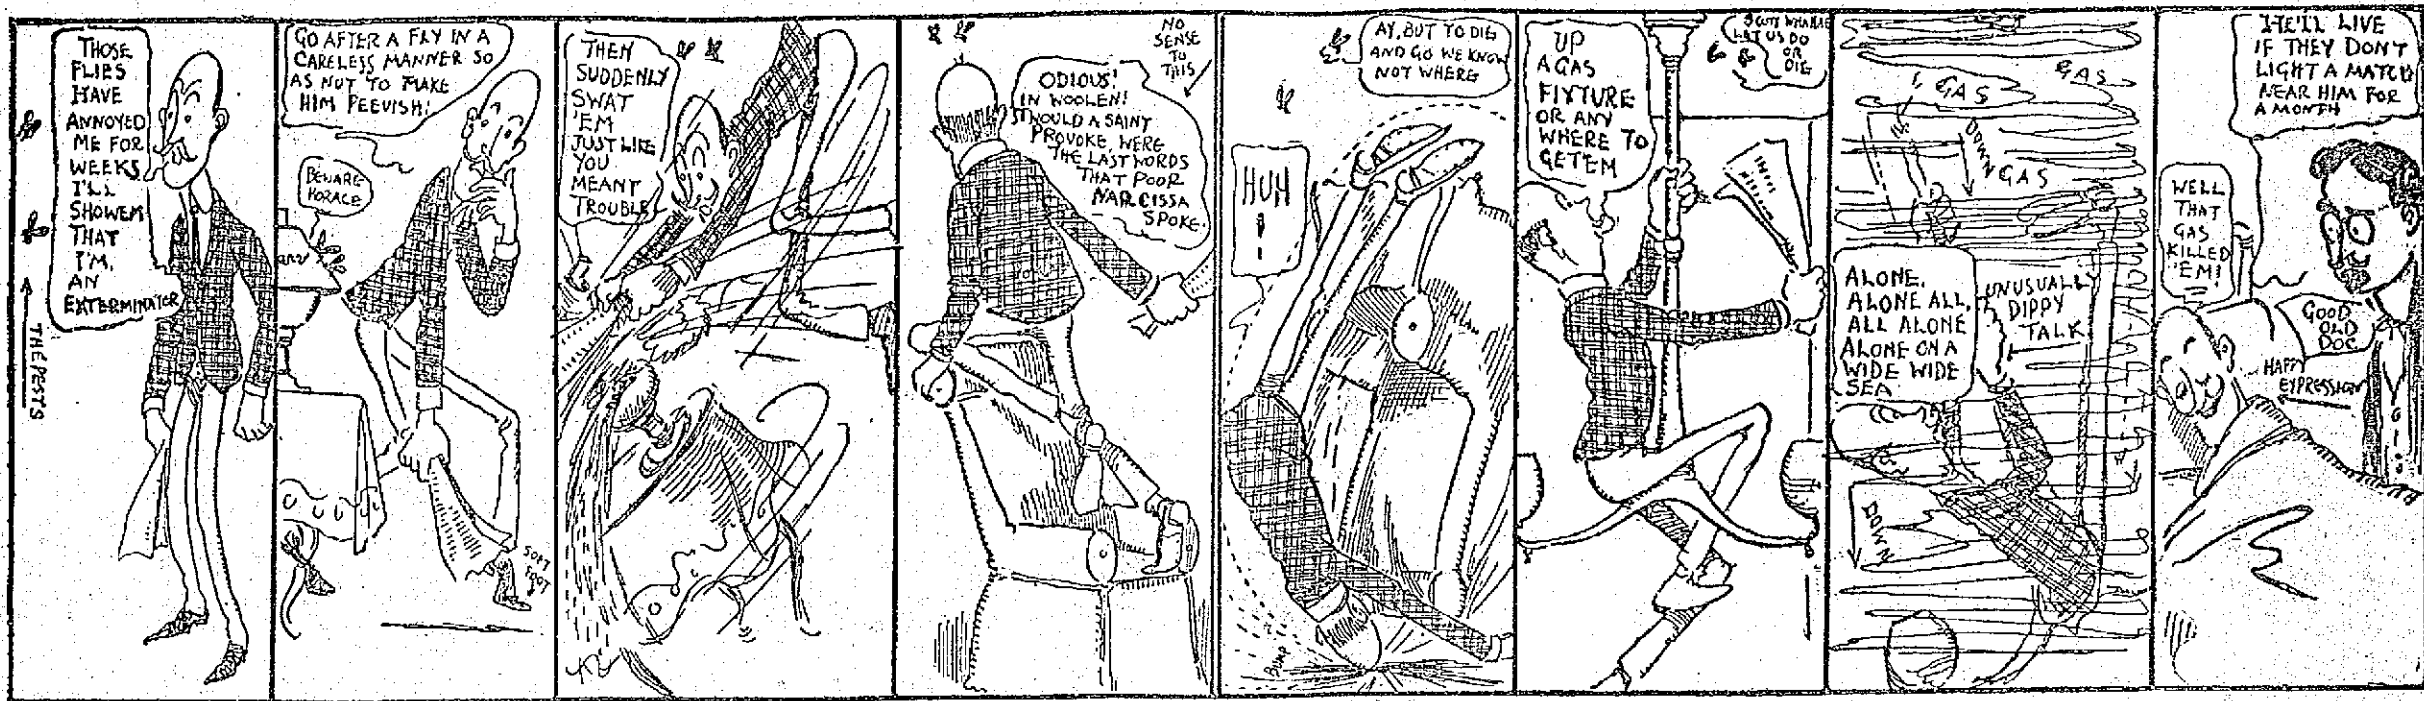

A VERY pleasing arrangement is small tables, seating four guests. The round table is always the more cozy and attractive in appearance. Cover with the finest white damask and plain eggshell thin china. The silver should be your choicest and not too massive. Each table has a different flower, white roses for one, forget-me-nots at another, valley lilies, poppies, pink geraniums, gardenias, nasturtiums of a golden hue, and so on, as individual taste dictates. The long stemmed blossoms should be arranged in tall vases of clear glass, the low rambling blooms in broad, rather flat bowls, also of clear glass, so that one may enjoy the beautiful effect of green stems and leaves in the water. Arrange them loosely and with an artistic carelessness. Studied effects in flowers are very inharmonious. Each guest as she arrives is presented with a flower, by which she later finds her place, choosing the table which has the same blossom. If one has nice grounds the tables can be set among the trees and vines with a beautiful effect, either during the day or lighted with soft colored lanterns, equally pleasing in the evening. A hidden orchestra should play selections from the "Rose Maiden," "Oh, Ye Lilies," "The Palms" and others having flower titles. The hostess might also wear a gown of old time flower sprigged muslin, with a posy in her hair, as in yore old time. If games are in order the prizes should be old style Dolly Varden baskets, filled to overflowing with dewy, freshly plucked blossoms.

There is no more beautiful, refreshing entertainment than this to offer one's friends, who are often surfeited with balls, tens and stiffly formal functions, and the heart turns with grateful gratitude to flowers and greenery, typical of all that is purest, sweetest and best in life.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM GOES FLY HUNTING

HOME ROBBED

MAN SLEPT WHILE BURGLARS WERE AT WORK

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Burglars in the house of Benjamin Silverstein, 24 Almont street, Malden, yesterday morning, forced open a window directly beside a couch where Silverstein was sleeping, and then walked over the sleeping man to ransack the house. Silverstein's trousers on a chair near by were taken into the kitchen by the daring crooks and the contents stolen. The burglars then stole a gold watch and chain and a small amount of money. Silverstein was unaware that his house had been robbed until he awoke and was unable to find his trousers.

The Malden police also received a report of a break in the store of A. Joseph, Malden square. Much mystery surrounds this break, as the thior-oughfare is patrolled by several policemen at all hours of the night, and within a stone's throw of the police station and several lunch carts. Trading stamps and a large amount of chewing gum were stolen.

WAS FINED $75

MAN PRETENDED TO BE A POLICEMAN

HAVERHILL, Sept. 1.—Judge Ryan in the district court yesterday fined Louis Martin $75 for assuming to be a policeman and $25 more for assault upon James B. Copp.

The two charges against Martin resulted from the supposed arrest of Copp by Martin Aug. 15. Copp testified that he had words with Martin while on a parcel delivery wagon and that shortly afterward Martin met him again and placed him under arrest for drunkenness, using vile names and pushing and hauling him about until Copp's left leg was caught in the wheel of the delivery wagon and wrenched.

City Marshal Mack testified that he informed Martin when Copp was taken to the police station that he had no authority as a special or regular policeman and Copp was not booked.

Martin was appointed a special policeman in December, 1909, for the balance of that year, and his action, according to Judge Ryan, appeared to be an aggravated case of a man trying to satisfy a personal grudge.

WOMAN DEPORTED

SHE HAS MADE SEVEN ATTEMPTS TO LAND HERE

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Mary Maclean, who has an inextinguishable desire to enter this country, was deported by the immigration authorities yesterday for the seventh time. Accompanied by Inspector B. E. Maricle and a matron she was taken aboard the steamer Calvin Austin for New Brunswick. She holds the record for the amount of trouble caused to the immigration service.

Because of her mental condition she was barred on her first attempt to enter the country. Repeated attempts, by land and sea, followed, and all were frustrated through the vigilance of the port and boundary line inspectors. Finally she secured work in a hotel in Montreal and surveillance of her movements was continued.

A short time ago she left Montreal on a train bound for this city, and an immigration officer followed her. He demanded that she be put off the train, but the conductor declined to comply as she had a ticket. She left the train at High Gate Springs, near the United States line, and later walked across the boundary line to East Swanton, Vt. Thence she proceeded leisurely to Burlington and finally to Boston, where her arrest followed.

LAURIER'S FIGHT

Great Crowds Hear the Premier of Canada

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 1.—Continuing his campaign of the Maritime Provinces in favor of the reciprocity measure and of the liberal candidates in the next election, Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier toured Nova Scotia yesterday and last night. He was accorded an enthusiastic welcome everywhere, his addresses dealing chiefly with the merits of reciprocity with the United States and with the opposition's cry of annexation being apparently well received.

The special train on which Sir Wilfrid is making his campaign stopped to allow him to speak at Shubenacadie, Truro, Stellarton and Pictou. Great crowds gathered round the rear platform at each place, more than 3000 persons assembling about the premier at Truro station, where Mayor Stuart presented Sir Wilfrid with an illuminated address. The premier was wildly cheered.

Sir Wilfrid delivered the principal address of the day at New Glasgow last evening. "Where he addressed more than 8000 persons, who had gathered in the Arena rink. His remarks were largely an elaboration of those which he delivered from the train during the day.

LEADER HAS NO FEAR

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 1.—The Hon. F. Holtz, leader of the conservatives in Saskatchewan, does not attach so much importance to the annexation argument as his colleagues in the east. When it comes to a question of annexation to the United States, he said, at Regina yesterday that he would go a long way rather than sacrifice his British birthright or connection, but he was not prepared to set up his British prejudices when there was no necessity for so doing, for it was no necessity for Americans ultimately would become good Britishers as well.

Selling butter, eggs and grain abroad, he said, would not separate British people from the traditions they had as a nation, and under which they had developed their ideals.

NEW CITY CHARTER

ditional officers and boards and assign them to proper departments and may also make changes in the assignment of existing officers and boards, except that the department of public safety shall always include police, health and poor; streets and highways shall always include highways, sewers, drains, and engineering; and finance shall always include treasury, auditing, sinking funds, and tax collection.

Twentieth.—The salary of the mayor is fixed at $3000, and of each of the aldermen at $2500 per annum.

Twenty-first.—The school committee shall consist of five members, elected as heretofore stated. It shall organize on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in each year and choose a chairman from its membership.

A specific provision is made that all final votes of the school committee expending a sum of money in excess of $50 must be a yea and nay vote. The management and control of the public schools is vested in the school committee. It must elect a superintendent of schools, and, under the laws regulating civil service, it may suspend, appoint or remove at pleasure all subordinate officers and assistants including janitors. The school committee has the authority to make all necessary expenditures in connection with the care of school property, and no site for a school building and no plans for the construction or alteration of a school building shall be accepted or work begun thereon without the approval of the school committee.

The Recall

Twenty-second.—An holder of an elective office may be recalled in the following manner: A petition demanding the election of a successor to the office holder sought to be removed, and signed by voters equal to 20 per cent of the aggregate number of votes cast for candidates for mayor at the last preceding annual election at which a mayor was elected, shall be filed in the office of the city clerk. This petition may be supplemented by additional names, as provided in detail in the act, and when verified and certified by any city clerk, must be presented to the municipal council. The officer sought to be removed may resign but the municipal council shall call an election in any event, and nominations for a recall election are made without the intervention of a preliminary election by simply filing a petition with the city clerk. The name of the incumbent sought to be removed, will appear upon the ballot unless he requests otherwise in writing.

Initiative and Referendum

Twenty-third.—The initiative and referendum are provided for in the following manner: An initiative petition, signed by a number of voters equal to 20 per cent of the aggregate number of votes cast for candidates for mayor at the last preceding annual election at which a mayor was elected may be filed with the city clerk requesting the passage by the municipal council of any measure. Upon the filing of this petition the municipal council must pass said measure within twenty days, or forthwith, at the expiration of said twenty days, call a special election.

If the petition, however, is signed by a number of voters equal to at least 10 per cent but less than 20 per cent of the aggregate number of votes cast for mayor at the last preceding annual election at which a mayor was elected, the question shall be submitted to the voters at the next annual city election.

If, upon the submission of the question to the voters, as above outlined, a majority of the qualified voters voting thereon shall vote in favor thereof, the measure shall then become valid and binding and can only be altered or repealed in the same manner in which it was passed. There are, also, further provisions by which the municipal council, of its own volition, may submit measures to the vote of the people.

Within ten days after the passage of an ordinary measure, and within thirty days after the passage of any measure granting a public franchise, if voters equal in number to 15 per cent of the aggregate number of votes cast for candidates for mayor, at the last preceding annual election at which a mayor was elected, file with the city clerk a petition protesting against such measures, the municipal council shall submit the same to the vote of the people in a manner similar to that provided for by the initiative petition, and the measure so submitted shall not have the effect at law, unless and until approved by a majority vote of the people voting thereon.

Twenty-fourth.—No person who resigns from an elective office, or is removed by a recall, shall be eligible for any public office for one year thereafter.

Twenty-fifth.—The act must be submitted to the qualified voters of the city of Lowell at the state election in the year 1911, and shall not take effect in any part, (except insofar as authority is given for such submission) unless and until accepted by the voters at such state election.

If so accepted, the act takes effect and the first election thereunder will be on the third Tuesday in December, 1911, the preliminary election for nominations being set for the third Tuesday preceding the aforesaid city election.

This synopsis contains the principal provision of the new charter, but careful study should be made of the act itself.

Note.—There is a clerical error in section 57 of the act which by way of description refers to the "annual city election to be held on the fourth Tuesday of December in the year nineteen hundred and eleven," while it is expressly provided in so many words in section 3 of the act that "the annual city election of the city of Lowell shall be held on the third Tuesday of December, and thereafter on the second Tuesday of December in each year."

LABOR DAY PARADE

Arrangements Completed for the Grand Demonstration

Everything is now in readiness for the big demonstration and parade on Labor day. All arrangements were completed at a meeting held by the Trades and Labor council in their hall, 32 Middle street, last night.

Chief Marshal Anderson addressed the meeting, and after advising that the different unions report on the time said that the parade would start at 9:30 o'clock sharp whether or not all the unions were in line. He wants the different unions to report not later than 9:15 o'clock.

It was voted to elect delegates to the state branch, A. F. of L. convention at the regular meeting of the council next Thursday evening.

General Organizer Linehan of the Electrical Workers union was present, and delivered a short address on trade unionism. He also congratulated the council on the good work done during the past year. He urged all trade unionists to be true to their principles and show their sincerity by participating in the parade.

The speakers at the open air demonstration on the South common in the evening will be John Golden, general president of the United Textile Workers of America; Mrs. Sara A. Conboy, general organizer of the United Textile Workers of America and vice president of the Woman's Trade Union League; Millard W. Stevenson, secretary of the Central Labor union of Lawrence, and business agent of the painters and decorators; Col. James H. Carmichael of Lowell; William E. Spruille of the Lowell Street Railway Men's union, and Hon. John H. Meenan, mayor of Lowell.

Next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Federation of Churches will hold what is to be known as Labor Sunday on the South common. Rev. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary of the labor and social service of the Congregational Brotherhood, will be the principal speaker. The delegates were instructed to report the same back to their local and invite all members to be present at said service. In case of bad weather the services will be held in Mathew hall.

THE STATE BOARD

To Fix Blame for the Collision

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 1.—The blame for the collision of the electric cars on the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street railway in Ware recently, in which one person was killed and six injured, will be fixed by a special report of the state board of railroad commissioners today.

The commissioners found that the accident resulted from the confusing and improper manner in which the meeting order was given by Supt. Chisholm, but that the accident, nevertheless, might have been avoided by the exercise of reasonable care and prudence on the part of those operating and controlling the movements of the special car.

SEN. LODGE'S SON

MARRIED TO MISS CONNOLLY AT CATHEDRAL RECTORY

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—A romance that began last winter when the groom, then ill at the home of a prominent back Bay physician, was nursed back to health by the young woman who has now become his bride, culminated yesterday afternoon in the wedding of John Ellerton Lodge, son of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and Miss Mary Catherine Connolly of Boston and New Glasgow, N. S.

The ceremony, which was witnessed by only six relatives of the groom, the bride's brother and her most intimate girl chum, took place at 5 o'clock at the rectory of the cathedral, the officiating clergyman being Rev. William D. Finigan, assistant chancellor of the archdiocese of Boston.

Miss Connolly's witness was Miss Agnes Coakley formerly of Berkshire, now of 193 St. Botolph street, a nurse in the Carney hospital, where the bride had been employed several years in a similar capacity. Congressman Arthur P. Gardner, son-in-law of Senator Lodge, was the groom's witness.

GOT SIX MONTHS

MAN PUT UP ARGUMENT FOR A DIME

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—"Gimme that dime; I saw it first," shouted William C. Wentworth to Susie McManis on a Washington street car Wednesday as the latter gleefully picked up a silver 10-cent piece from the floor.

When the McManis woman stepped from the car Wilson followed her, still arguing about the dime. As she was about to enter her home at 40 Upton street he used stronger arguments, knocking her down with his fist, she declares.

WESLEYAN STUDENTS

Escaped From a Burning Building

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 1.—Four Wesleyan university men had a thrilling escape early today, when fire broke out in the main wing of the Foss house on the college campus. The men had time only to secure some of their personal effects and to jump from a second story window to the ground, a distance of ten feet. One of the men, Robert Conover of Riverside, N. J., sprained his ankle in jumping. The others in the building were Frank Streightoff of Montclair, N. J., E. L. Ellison of Branley, Leeds, England, and Vittorioanni Pellini, Celano, Italy. The fire was discovered by Henry Conrad, Seymour, Conn., who was sleeping on the veranda, and who, awakened by the fire, rushed upstairs and awakened the others and then turned in an alarm.

CRUELTY CHARGED

NAVY PAY CLERK HAS SUED FOR DIVORCE

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 1.—Charging extreme cruelty, of which it is alleged threats and attempts to commit suicide are a part, Clarence Clarke Alger, a pay clerk in the navy, recently attached to the naval training station here, has sued his wife for divorce.

Mrs. Alger was formerly Miss Henrietta Murgers, the daughter of well-to-do Newport people. They were married, according to the papers filed here, in this city in 1899.

Alger in his declaration also charges "that his wife has reviled and rebuked him in private and in public and has ordered him out of the house." He also makes other charges tending to bear out his general allegation of extreme cruelty. The case has been begun here by counsel for the petitioner, and it will come up for a hearing in October. As yet no answer has been made.

WATER BOARD

CONFERES WITH ENGINEER RE-LATIVE TO NEW RESERVOIR

Mr. Barbour and his assistants have made a scientific investigation, whatever that means, of the proposed site for the new reservoir in Christian street, Centralville heights, and they reported to the board.

Engineer Barbour was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the new reservoir. He was also voted to extend the six-inch main pipe on Saunders street to Pine street.

JUDGE DE COURCY

May be Appointed to the Supreme Court

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Governor Foss is said to have practically made up his mind to appoint Judge Charles A. De Courcy to the supreme bench, and to name Judge Henry K. Braler as chief justice of the supreme judicial court.

He is to have a conference on Tuesday with Chief Justice Marcus P. Knowlton of the supreme court, and it is possible that the appointments may be sent into the meeting of the executive council on Wednesday.

In the event of his naming Judge De Courcy to the supreme bench, Governor Foss will have two more vacancies to fill on the superior bench.

A Summer Friend
"A friend in need is a friend indeed." One is reminded of the old saying by an old New England remedy. It relieves so many troubles and proves a friend in need on so many occasions. Many families keep it in the house all the time. For sunburn, Brown-tail moth, mosquito bites and all kinds of rash it is a veritable blessing. You will have a most friendly feeling for "Toll-free" this summer if you try its effect on any of these ailments.

Business Conditions

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicated that inclement weather has had an adverse effect on retail trade at many points but business maintains fair progress. Boston reports that the unfavorable weather has restricted operations at retail but conditions are sound and a good fall demand is expected. In wholesale lines improvement is more pronounced in some branches than others although the general tendency is toward increased activity. Further large transactions are noted in wool and iron shows some improvement. Quiet conditions prevail in drygoods and general merchandise at Pittsburgh but values are fairly well maintained. Bank exchanges this week are at the lowest point of the month but the total makes a fairly satisfactory comparison with a year ago aggregating $2,711,048,364, a gain of 1.9 per cent.

STOCK MARKET

WAS STRONG AT THE CLOSING

HOUR TODAY

Prices Worked To a Lower Level—

Selling Forced Prices Down—The

General Market Came Back During

the Final Hour

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Gains of a point were made by Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific and Lehigh Valley in the opening sales on the stock exchange today. Otherwise changes were fractional. Most of the active stocks advanced slowly. Almost the only loss recorded was a decline of half a point in Atchafon pf. The market went off a trifle from the opening prices, but not much stock was sold, and the lowest level uncovered new buying orders, which sent the list to a higher range than at the opening. U. S. Steel, Reading, and the Harriman stocks were in special demand. Standard Oil of New Jersey, in which there were no transactions in the outside market, was quoted at 300 bid and 450 asked. Speculation took on a holiday character today, the intending three days suspension of business confining operations largely to an evening-up nature. Room shorts who did not care to keep open contracts bought the representative stocks on a rising scale, and the bulls perceiving the demand pushed prices up whenever possible, so that a number of the leading issues established advances of a point or more. U. S. Steel made up nearly all of its dividend of 1 1/2, which came off the price of the stock today. The government report on cotton was awaited with interest, but fluctuation in the commodity itself was narrow. The dullness of the market grew intense as the day drew to a close, and there was scarcely a variation of 1/4 in the active stocks. The cotton market greeted the unfavorable government crop report with a rise of 25 points, and much of the speculative business in stocks was transferred to that account. The market went off slightly after the publication of the crop report. The figures were below current estimates, the condition of 72.3 as of Aug. 25 showing a depreciation of nearly 16 per cent. for the month and comparing with a ten-year average of 73.5. Wells Fargo dropped 8 points. The market closed strong. Prices worked to a lower level in the closing hour, some of the bears' thing out fresh lines of stock on the theory that the more urgent short covering had been completed for the time being. This selling forced down prices slowly until U. P. Amal Copper, Ches. & Ohio, St. Paul and Lehigh Valley rallied about a point below the highest figures of the day, and the general list a large fraction. In the last few minutes there was a vigorous return, led by Lehigh Valley, which rallied 1 1/2. The general market also rebounded to near the best.

RUN OVER BY AUTO

One Boy Killed and

Another Injured

HOLYOKE, Sept. 1.—A taxi-cab driven by James Sweeney that was following an electric car on Dwight street today ran over two boys that jumped off the rear end of the car, killing Joseph McNeigh, son of Bernard McNeigh and badly injuring Frank Kiley, son of James Kiley. The boys, who were both 12 years old, were stealing a ride on the car when it suddenly stopped and the boys dashed for the sidewalk only to be knocked down and run over by the taxi-cab.

NEW WITNESSES

To Give Important Testimony at the Beattie Trial

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va.

Sept. 1.—From the obscurity of a lonely cell in the little jail here, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., this morning gazed expectantly at the courthouse, a few yards away, where sometime today he was scheduled to explain to the jury the murder of his wife, for which he was indicted just 15 days ago. With the testimony of the prisoner himself the defense planned to conclude his case.

Before this, however, counsel for the defense prepared to call Douglas Beattie, a brother of the accused, as well as several of Henry's friends, some of them women, to testify not only to the good reputation of the prisoner but also to his happy relations with his wife.

Unquestionably the strongest witness for the prosecution has been Paul Beattie, a cousin of the accused. Paul says he bought for Henry the shotgun which the prisoner has identified as the gun that snuffed out his wife's life. Yet the prisoner himself declares that the highwayman who, he alleges, committed the crime was bearded and six feet tall, a description which does not fit youthful Paul. It was expected that the prisoner would repeat his original explanation of the murder, tell again of how the highwayman held him up and deny once more that he ever took part in the purchase of any shotgun or talked with Paul about any gun.

The vital issue in the case, therefore, is the veracity of the cousins, Paul and Henry.

It was not expected that Henry would take the stand until the afternoon and it was thought that counsel for the defense first might ask that the jury might go to the scene of the crime, an expedition which would occupy at least three hours in traveling back and forth. The jury never has viewed the spot where the tragedy occurred and it was said that counsel for the defense planned to have the prisoner tell his story of the bearded highwayman immediately after the picture of the lonely spot on the Middlethorpe turnpike has been fixed in the minds of the juryman.

Cross examination of the prisoner by the prosecution was looked for late today or at the beginning of the session of court tomorrow. It is believed the case will reach the jury next Tuesday.

The taking of a deposition, at the home of Mrs. M. C. Stager, who is ill and who claims to have seen a mysterious man with a beard just before the tragedy threatened to delay today's proceedings and it was considered not unlikely that if the 13 mile trip to the scene of the crime was made by the jury today the testimony of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., might not be reached until tomorrow.

Sunlight streamed into the courtroom for the first time in several days when the court convened.

The defense first introduced some character witnesses to show the good reputation of the prisoner.

Douglas Beattie, an older brother of the prisoner, then took the stand. "Will you explain the relations of Henry and his wife?" queried Mr. Smith, for the defense. "From the time they were married since they lived in your home."

"Did you examine the car?"

"When I got into it to go up the road I found blood on the left seat, covered up, and I got full of blood on the right seat."

The witness said he drove the car from the time Henry brought the dead woman to the Owens to the next day.

"How bloody was the seat?" asked Mr. Smith.

"It was bloody enough to make a big spot on my pants."

"Did you lift the seat up?"

"Yes, and blood ran in every direction after I had ridden about two hours."

At this point Attorney Smith for the defense receiving a message telling him of an important witness the examination was suspended. Rumor flew thick and fast.

When the prisoner read the message to Mr. Smith he became excited and pounded on the table in front of him several times, his face flushed, and he turned to his father and talked quickly to him. Mr. Smith immediately left the room.

It was learned that the witness will corroborate a story of a Richmond man that he knew of a man and woman who traveled the Middlethorpe turnpike on the night of the murder and that the machine stopped once and that the woman stood on the running board. This fact will be used by the defense to controvert the evidence of several boy witnesses that they saw a man and woman in a car standing at the road and that the man was not in the machine. By this testimony the prosecution has contended that the accused was not in his seat in the car when the murder occurred.

Mr. Smith returned to the courtroom at noon and continued his examination of Douglas Beattie who was previously on the stand.

GEIDEL FOUND GUILTY

Bellboy Convicted of Murder in the Second Degree

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The jury in the case of Paul Geidel, the 17 year old bellboy charged with the murder of William Jackson in the Inglewood hotel on July 20, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree this morning. The jury had been locked up all night.

The jury retired for their deliberations at 3.30 yesterday afternoon and at midnight Judge Crain locked them up for the night. By the verdict of the jury Geidel escapes the electric chair but will be sentenced for a long term in either Sing Sing or Auburn prison.

Motions were deferred by Judge Crain until next Tuesday when sentence probably will be pronounced. A verdict of second degree murder provides for imprisonment for a minimum term of 20 years to a maximum sentence of imprisonment for life.

When Geidel was brought into court to learn his fate he was pale. Tears rolled down his face when he heard the verdict and he clanked his hands in an effort to control himself. None of his relatives were in court. The prisoner had nothing to say after the verdict was pronounced and he was quickly led away to the Tombs prison.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it, so I said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANEZETSKI, 2298 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LOWER PRICE OF FOOD

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Premier Caillaux today discussed with the minister of commerce, M. Couba, and the minister of agriculture, M. Pams, measures which are to make lower prices of food possible.

Among the measures under consideration are the importation of meat and livestock and the suspension of various taxes. Nothing, however, will be done until a fuller inquiry has been made into the grievances, which in many cases are capable of local correction.

Owing to the heavy municipal taxes, butter at Lille, one of the centers of disorder, is 44 cents a pound. The prices of all eatables generally are of the same proportions, the high cost being largely due to the octroi taxes.

Processions, town meetings, the sacking of shops and detached incidents of violence in numerous places in the northern departments continue.

POLICE COURT

Only One Drunk Before Judge Hadley

Judge Hadley held a session of the juvenile court at 9 o'clock and followed it up with the regular session.

Only one drunk appeared on deck, and he was placed on probation for his family's sake.

John Fleming pulled back his appeal and was sent to the state farm. Esther Hull withdrew her appeal and takes 20 days in jail.

Michael J. Reynolds was charged with larceny of $9.25 from John McManus, the poor man's friend and orphan's protector, who stated that Reynolds borrowed $9.25 from him yesterday claiming that he had $11 coming to him from the city treasurer. Subsequently he learned that Reynolds had previously sold his pay to a local broker.

John McNamara, secretary to Constable McManus, corroborated the testimony of the previous witness.

John McNamara, Jr. also spoke. The court demanded a look at order on Reynolds' pay, and the case was continued until tomorrow.

At this point a drunk who had been slumbering on the spectator's benches came to life, and started to talk right out in meeting. Officer Phil Dwyer grasped him by the middle of the back and shoved him out of the court room.

Thomas Farrell and Elizabeth Calase pleaded guilty of larceny and lascivious cohabitation. The couple had been living in a wood-chopper's camp in the woods at Tewksbury, the woman having a husband living. Dr. Pierce of the Tewksbury hospital stated that the woman was mentally and morally deficient. Dr. Banner also examined the woman and made a similar report. Town Counsel Rogers, who conducted the prosecution, stated that under the circumstances that Farrell should be severely dealt with. The court sentenced Farrell to the house of correction for 15 months. Farrell appealed and was held in $500 bonds for the superior court. The woman will go to the infirmary at Tewksbury temporarily.

WEDS BROKER

A FEW HOURS AFTER SHE GOT DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Matilda Reese Mills, who said she obtained a divorce only a few hours before, was an applicant for a marriage license in City Hall yesterday with James A. Woodward, a broker, of No. 21 Broad street.

Mrs. Mills offered records to show she was granted a final decree of divorce yesterday from A. Roland Mills, as well as the custody of their two children and $100 a month alimony.

She was married to Mr. Woodward last night in her apartment in the Dartmouth apartment hotel, No. 103 West Eighty-second street, by the Rev. Dr. Holman of Franklin Furnace, N. J.

Mrs. Mills was indignant when reporters asked her about her first marriage. She had it had been an unhappy one, and she wanted to forget it.

The Woodward's will live at the Dartmouth. Mrs. Woodward is about thirty years old and her husband several years older.

Mr. Woodward, who was a widower, several years ago was one of a party of four Americans who were taken off, nearly starved, from Navassa, a guano island in the Caribbean sea, sixty miles east of Jamaica. They failed to receive supplies from a phosphate company for which they were working.

STREET CAVED IN

WOMAN WAS BURIED UP TO HER CHIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A woman buried to her chin in the middle of a Jersey City thoroughfare late yesterday caused such a throng to assemble that the police reserves were called out in the fear that the entire street would close in.

The woman, Miss Margaret Craven, of No. 155 Railroad avenue, had thrust her hands above her head as she passed, and the pavement gave way beneath her and she sank up to her neck.

Paving blocks were wedged tightly against her throat and she was held helpless.

The street recently had been excavated for the new Grove street station of the Pennsylvania railroad. It had been filled in again and the paving replaced, but it is supposed the continuous rains loosened the dirt and rock.

Miss Craven's screams attracted Albert Wilson, walking boss for the tunnel company. He got two men to hold her hands while he put a gang of ten laborers to work digging her out. The work took more than an hour.

It was feared when Miss Craven fainting that she was seriously injured, but when she was taken to the hospital it was found she was only suffering from bruises and shock.

SMOOTH PAVING WORK

Was Given a Setback Because of the Rain

The smooth paving work in Gorham and Merrimack streets met with a rather severe setback on account of the rain and it will take several days more than were figured upon to complete the jobs. The street department will make haste to get in line for an early clean up of the fall work and considerable new work will be started after the meetings to be held Tuesday night.

The committee on streets will meet Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock and the street oiling proposition will be discussed at considerable length at that meeting. Men who are supposed to be authorized on streets any it doesn't cost any more to oil streets than it does to water them. Worcester has 205 miles of oiled streets and Springfield does a lot of street oiling. The process, however, has its enemies as well as its friends because of the dirt that it creates, sticking to shoes and clothing and getting tracked into houses.

Then again it is argued that the money could be spent to better advantage in the repairing of streets that are a disgrace to the city. A portion of Alken street is not only discolored, but dangerous, and there are several other streets that are almost as bad. Then again one hears the statement made that street work is often held back until around election time in order that a goodly number of voters may be given work at that particular time.

The streets committee at its hearing on Wednesday evening will list to what there is to be said in favor or against the following petitions:

Edward F. Mason and others that Varnum avenue and Mammoth road be widened at their intersection.

Cornelius E. Collins and others that High street be oiled.

Mrs. Mary J. Sherman and Cora B. Rickett, that edge stones be laid in Bertram street.

William D. Brown and others that edge stones and a cobble gutter be laid in Fremont street.

Warren B. Coburn and others, that Barker avenue, from Billings street to Boynton street, be accepted and that edge stones be laid on the westerly side thereof.

Albert Charron, for permission to erect a display post opposite 81 Merrimack street.

C. F. Weston and others, that Riverside street be oiled.

Harry H. Davis, that Varnum avenue be laid out and the lines from Fawcett boulevard to the city line be defined.

Margaret Wheelock and others, that a portion of Prince street be accepted. Abraham B. Beal and others, that edge stones be laid on the westerly side of Colburn street and easterly side of Tilden street, and that granite block walk be laid in Merrimack street, from Colburn to Tilden street.

Complaint of dust nuisance in Willard street and Nineteenth streets.

Committee on Sewers

The committee on sewers will go out on views Tuesday afternoon and at 7.30 o'clock in the evening will give hearings on a few minor matters that were not attended to at the recent meeting of the committee.

The Lighting Committee

The committee on lighting streets, Alderman Connors, chairman, and Alderman Toupin a close second, will make the rounds of the city tonight. They will ride with Chief Hosmer and will visit places described in petitions now in the hands of the clerk of committees, about 30 in all. Should the fire bells sound while the view is being made the aldermen understand that they will have to shift from the automobile to shank's mare as it will be necessary for the chief to respond to the alarm of fire. It is hoped, however, that nothing so terrible will happen.

Side Called For

Purchasing Agent Foye will call for bids for electrical fittings for the water department and several hundred feet of pipe for the same department. He will also call for bids on shrubs and plants for the park department and if the park department doesn't have any better luck with its next supply of plants and shrubs than it did with those that were set out this year it would be just as well for the purchasing agent to "can" the order. The shrubs set out about the city hall this year proved almost a complete failure and that, too, for lack of care.

CLEARING WEATHER

IS GREETED BY THE LOVERS OF SPORTS

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—With the clouds apparently squeezed and the wind from the dry northwest—quarter, there seemed a good chance at 9 a. m. today for the resumption of flying at Squantum, the finals in the tennis tournament at Newport, a start in the Grand Circuit racing at Reudville and a double clash of the Athletics and Red Sox in this city.

The rain, which has broken a two months drought to the delight of those engaged in agricultural pursuits and to the indignation of the sporting fraternity and summer vacationists, ceased early today and while the sky this forenoon continued overcast the weather predictors announced the approach of sunshine before the end of the day.

The rainfall in Boston since Aug. 24, totalled more than four inches, reducing a deficiency since Jan. 1st from eight to a little less than six inches.

Reports from other parts of New England indicated that it will require more than two feet of rainfall to bring the lakes, ponds and streams back to the normal before winter sets in, as there have been droughts for five successive years and many of the stretches of still and running water are at their lowest points in 50 years.

GREAT JAIL DELIVERY

Was Planned by the Prisoners at Augusta, Maine

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 1.—A steel table-knife fashioned into a two-edged sawing instrument, a white metal desert spoon, the handle of which had been filed to fit the lock which stood between them and liberty, and a bit of half-round file about six inches in length was the evidence, taken from Thomas Nasson's cell at the county jail by the jailer, Orren Choate, that a wholesale delivery of the prisoners awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny at a local sporting goods store.

ASTOR'S NIECE

CUTS OFF CHILDREN BY HER FIRST HUSBAND

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The will of the late Countess Margaret Laura Zborowski, widow of Count Elliott Zborowski, the crack polo player, was offered for probate yesterday. The value of the estate in Great Britain was placed at $316,570 gross and $162,090 net.

By the will the bulk of the estate goes to Louis Zborowski, her son by her second husband. Her son and daughter by her first marriage, Hubert de Steurs and Countess Margaret de Steurs Obernordoff, wife of Count Obernordoff, the German minister to Austria, were disinherited for what the mother claimed was their failure to show her the love and respect to which she was entitled.

Countess Zborowski was the daughter of John Carey, a wealthy Englishman, and Alida Astor, the youngest sister of William Astor. She was married first to Baron de Steurs, at one time Belgian minister to the United States. She got a divorce from him and the next day was married to Zborowski. The latter was killed while practicing for an automobile race in France.

THE ARCHBISHOP

WILL ARRIVE HOME ABOUT SEPTEMBER 12

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Archbishop Wm. H. O'Connell, who has been abroad for the last two months enjoying his annual vacation, will return to this city about September 12. The archbishop will be accompanied by Mgr. Splaine of the Cathedral, who has been in Europe with him.

Archbishop O'Connell will leave Antwerp tomorrow and the trip across will consume about 10 days. The boat will dock in New York City. The archbishop will be home in time to participate in the last week's retreat of the clergy of the Boston diocese, which will begin at St. John's seminary on Monday, Sept. 18. The archbishop will preside at the retreat during that week.

BARGE WENT ASHORE

Captain of the Vessel Was Drowned

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 1.—That Captain H. Johansen of the barge William Brenner, which went ashore on Dickens reef yesterday after the other barge in tow of the tug Lizzie D. had swamped off the tug, lost his life, was disclosed today when his body was picked up by members of the Point Judith lifesaving crew. After the barge piled up on the rocks yesterday afternoon a man was seen running along the deck of the craft, getting ready to launch a dory. The lifesaving crew was called to the scene but when they arrived all they found was the wreck of the dory on the rocks, indicating that the man had been unsuccessful in his attempt to reach shore. Early today the lifesavers again went to the barge and picked up the body of the man.

The Brenner, which is loaded with 50 tons of wire, is high and dry on the rocks inside of Whale rock light, and the lifesavers expressed the opinion that had the Brenner's captain stuck to his craft he would not have lost his life.

THE OPERA HOUSE

Suggestions of fun galore come with the announcement that Mr. E. D. Stair's co-stars, Ward & Vokes, will be at the Opera House Saturday, Sept. 2, matinee and night, in the second edition of the musical comedy entitled "The Trouble Makers." It is said they will bring with them more visions of loveliness and a greater cast with brighter surroundings than they have ever had before and that the "Trouble Makers" is one long laugh from start to finish and full of merry complications, with pretty songs, dainty dances, evolutions and graceful poses by beautiful young misses.

The play is what its name suggests.

troubles by Percy and Harold, all the way through, much of it being made for them by Babbling Bess Snodgrass, one of Lucy Daly's latest creations. Interspersed through the farce are some pretty musical numbers and specialties.

THE THIEF

Rennold Wolf, dramatic editor of the New York Morning Telegraph, praises unqualifiedly, "The Thief," the dramatic sensation which had its premiere at the Lyceum theatre, New York, and ran for two solid years. "Originally, 'The Thief' is directness, suspense and pathos. 'The Thief' has in a wonderful degree. It is powerful and it is human. Once the story begins each scene is a 'big' scene. One hangs on every word and every word is significant. 'The Thief' first of all must stand as an example of structural perfection and there is not a dramatist in America today whose work gives the most ardent patriot reason to believe that he can equal it."

"The Thief" is scheduled for matinee and night at the Lowell Opera house, Monday, Sept. 4th.

AT THE OLD CROSS ROADS

It has been claimed and with apparent good reason, that of the southern plays recently produced none has scored a more remarkable hit than Arthur C. Alston's production of "At the Old Cross Roads." Its engagement at the Grand Opera house, New York city, was marvellously successful, the big theatre being packed to the doors nightly, and this same state of affairs has existed in every large city visited. Manager Alston who has in the past given us "Friends," "Tennessee's Partner" and several other first class productions, has really outdone himself in this his favorite offering. The cast this season is even stronger than that of last year and contains people of splendid reputation, many of whom were in the original production. Matinees will be given Friday and Saturday. A street parade at noon Thursday is promised.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Those who have witnessed the performance of Our Stock company at the Merrimack Square theatre this week, pronounce it the equal of the very best offerings of its kind that a Lowell audience has had an opportunity to enjoy in many seasons. "What Money Can't Buy," E. F. Payne's pretty little one-act play, with Kendal Weston in the leading character, that of "John Blake" an American millionaire, is winning merited recognition both afternoon and evening. The staging of the piece is one of the bright features in connection with the presentation. Next week this company will present E. F. Payne's favorite play, "A Forgotten Melody."

The other numbers on this week's bill are sharing in the honors of the week. Little Mary Green the "Aeroplane Girl," presents a real novelty that must be seen to be fully appreciated and Gilbert and King are comedians that are sure to make you laugh. Persco, the Harpist gives an excellent program of high-class selections, and Miss Anna McElhannon, in songs, was never heard to better advantage. The photo-plays are again the very best to be had.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

This is opening night at the Hathaway theatre, and all indications point to a crowded house at the initial performance of the Donald Meek stock company in William Collier's great comedy success, "Caught in the Rain," in which Donald Meek, New England's most popular comedian, will present the role created by William Collier, that of a young mine owner with an insuperable aversion to the fair sex, who becomes a victim of a rain storm in a rain storm with a charming young girl with whom he falls in love without realizing the fact, and whom he afterwards marries after a continuity of most amusing complications. Mr. Meek has appeared in the part before with great success, and it is particularly suited to his merry style of art. Mr. Meek has a strong, well-defined behind him, and a finished performance is assured. In presenting the play great attention has been given to the staging, and a feature will be a rain storm of real wet water right on the stage. The play will be given from the original manuscript without curtailment, and all the necessary accessories and bits of "business" will be reproduced in detail. There are a few good seats left for the opening performance, while the advance sale of seats for tomorrow's and Labor day's performances is large. Seats may be ordered in advance by telephone, 811. The subscription list is open and is fast acquiring substantial proportions.—Adv.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Two performances today and tomorrow of Augusta Perry's latest production, "The Squaw's Love," finish the engagement of that company at the Lakeview theatre this season. A well filled house greeted the first performance of that drama last night and was pronounced without exception the best ever seen at that theatre. Miss Perry assumes the title role and is ably assisted by Walter Downing, Prince Ellwood, and the full strength of the company. Everything is now, new costumes, new scenery and everything to make the last show offered the best possible, have been secured. Miss Perry's role is especially suited to her talent and gives her an excellent opportunity for emotional work, for which she is so well known. The plot of her new play is one that is sure to please even the most particular of the theatregoers. Entertainments supreme and clever acting in difficult situations helps to make the play a great success. Matinees will be given every afternoon this week.—Adv.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

In the opinion of many the world will survive even if the Mona Lisa be lost without recall.

It is a mistake to suppose that the candidate who does the most talking will be the winner. Some candidates would be better off if they let others do their talking.

The police authorities of all the cities in New England should unite in an effort to round up the Black Hand conspirators. They seem to go on with their nefarious business regardless of the efforts of police and the occasional convictions secured.

The city of Lawrence is to go more deeply into debt in order to tide over its present financial difficulties. It will borrow $175,000 in anticipation of taxes. That is what is usually done after inauguration day by most cities. The next incoming city government in Lawrence we surmise will have to assume a heavy load.

The agitation against the noise of motor boats is gathering force in Boston, in parts where the noise is undoubtedly a nuisance. It will be abated with the cold weather of course, but the question at issue is not to put a ban on the motor boat but a muffler on the motor to subdue the noise. No doubt the thing is quite feasible.

The practice of jumping freight trains is so dangerous that it has cost a great many lives. It is one for which nobody is responsible but the victims. Boys have attempted to ride on freights because they have heard that some men do so, but the greater number of those who take the risk are either killed or maimed for life.

CIRCLING THE EARTH

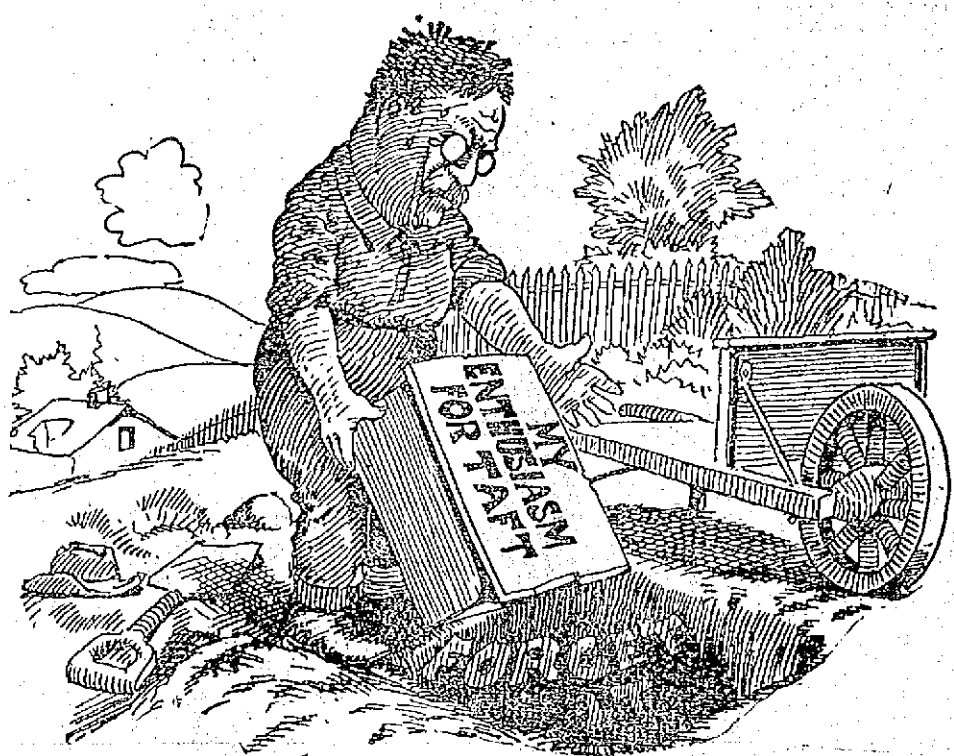

The journey of M. Jaeger-Schmidt around the world in less than forty days has proved that our modes of travel are more rapid than formerly and it has proved again if any proof were necessary the roundness of the earth. These globe trotters who boast of circling the earth should be required to use a speedometer or some other instrument for measuring the distance they cover. A man may go around the earth in the Arctic zone by traveling less than one-fourth of the circumference of the earth. If one could reach the North pole he could stand with one foot on the pole and turning on that as a pivot he could move the other around the earth in the sense that some of the recent globe trotters have made a trip around the earth in a northerly latitude. The distance a man will have to travel in going around the earth depends upon the parallel of latitude on which he travels. These circles vary from 25,000 miles at the equator to nothing at the poles.

SPEAKER CLARK'S REPLY TO TAFT

Speaker Champ Clark replying to President Taft's strictures at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday, has given democrats all over the country convincing proof that the republicans are not going to get away with any bluff speeches in the coming campaign. Speaker Clark's rejoinder is calm, dignified and convincing. By force of keen logic he shows the president to be guilty of wilful misrepresentation of the situation in regard to the tariff. When the farmers' free list bill, the revision of the wool schedule and the cotton bill were put up to him, he pleaded lack of information which he said his tariff board is preparing. But he did not seek any light from the tariff board when he was pushing the reciprocity bill. Neither did he seek information from any other source when he signed the Payne-Aldrich bill. That measure as Speaker Clark shows did not receive one-tenth of the care and attention given the preparation of the bills which the president recently vetoed. The man who passed it were not tariff experts either. The president himself denounced schedule K which has been the main point of attack by the democrats in framing the wool tariff bill. It is useless for President Taft to claim that he was actuated by any other than political motives in his tariff vetoes or even in pushing the reciprocity bill. The democrats enabled him to pass that measure and but for their aid he would have been unable to carry any tariff legislation and would as a result have been utterly humiliated by defeat. He has taken his stand with the old line republicans, he has thrown down the gauge of battle on the tariff issue and the prospect is that with the array of able speakers ready to assail his position, he will be a sorry spectacle before the campaign is over. He is the supposed head of a party split into warring factions and with so many strong democratic candidates to select from, it is highly probable that President Taft with the standpatners and trust magnates will be routed, horse, foot and dragons by the democratic leaders who can point to the brilliant record and united action in the recent session of congress in the effort to relieve the people from some of the oppressive burdens imposed by the present tariff law.

Nobody expects any kind of a fair report from the president's tariff board. The chief purpose of that board's existence is to uphold as far as possible the high schedules favored by the republican trusts. The country is not going to stand for that kind of nonsense any longer. The high cost of living and the inadequate rate of wages have predetermined the contest and unless the people are false to themselves they will elect a democratic president, and a democratic congress.

President Taft said the democrats framed a tariff for politics only but judging from his entire course in the reciprocity bill, and his vetoes of the democratic tariff bills it is apparent that he has been endeavoring all through this business to square himself and his party with the country in order to improve the party's chances preparatory to the contest of 1912.

QUIETLY LAID AWAY

SEEN AND HEARD

Most men are too much disposed to say: "There is a good deal in it," when there is nothing in it.

If you are careful of your conduct and of your health you have cheated the devil. And this is the only sort of cheating that is fair.

I do not believe men can be greatly benefited at wholesale by conventions or by resolutions.

Charity is given grudgingly; don't put yourself in position to need it.

Too many people have the notion that they must "argue" others around to their way of thinking.

In time public sentiment usually corrects itself; but only after months and years of quarrelling that was unnecessary in the first place.

Half the things you are excited about never happened.

Some men, if poor, think it is enough if they are indignant about it, and tell how misers gloat over ill-gotten gold.

When you are not able to verify the figures doubt them.

"I defy anybody to beat this for coincidence," said the woman. "The fact that everybody's mind runs on ice in the summer time doesn't make it a bit more remarkable, I had to get down town so early that I didn't have time to straighten up the house, and my husband promised to empty the pan of water under the ice-box about 12 o'clock, and placed subway meditations were electrified by the remembrance of that pan. Such an awful fear that he had forgotten it and that the water had soaked through to the ceiling below took possession of me that I said right out loud, and he 40 blocks away:

"Did you empty the pan under the icebox?"

The man sitting beside me clapped his hand to his forehead with a gesture of despair.

"No, I'll be blessed if I did," he said.

"When we realized the significance of the situation the man and I both felt pretty foolish; also we felt doubly anxious about our iceboxes. I postponed all other errands and hurried home. The pan was running over. I would give a good deal to know if the pan under that other icebox had overflowed too. I'll bet a cookie it had."

In a Canadian town called Cobalt, and we think it's in Ontario, the mayor of the burgh got "fresh" with a reporter and The Hamilton Herald, Hamilton, Ont., publishes the following story of the scrimmage:

COBALT, Aug. 24.—Reese Crossin, a young man who hails from Hamilton, and who is at present a reporter on the Cobalt Nugget, the daily paper of this town, had a lively fight on North Lang street this evening, with no less a personage than the mayor. The fight followed the publication of some statements that the mayor made at a council meeting on Wednesday night, concerning the inefficiency of Fire Chief Kappelle, who, he claimed, was a kid-glove man. Crossin carefully compiled all the statements without missing the slightest detail, and next evening when the story appeared in the Nugget it created no end of criticism from the citizens, who condemn the mayor strongly. Last night, while on their way to attend a political meeting Crossin and the mayor met. Crossin asked his worship what would be the tenor of his discourse, as he was billed to speak. The enquiry was followed by strong words, wherein Crossin lashed on his worship with several haymakers, and for a time it was some fight, Crossin being the victor. The mayor always wears a high hat; needless to say there will have to be a new one.

The mayor declares that he will drive Crossin out of town. It is just as well to let these puffed up individuals understand that they can't walk over newspaper men. Let it be understood also that Crossin is not the fighting editor of the Nugget.

THE SIMPLE MAIDEN. There was once a simple maiden and her simple name was Dottie. She had simple twinkle in her eye. There was a simple dimple in her simple chin that naughty

Little maids who had no dimples saw with sighs;

The things she said were simple. And the things she did were simple. A very simple girlie girl was she; But the simplest maid that ever Simply sighed may still be clever In her beautiful sim-ple-lic-tee.

There came a gallant hero with a manner that was splendid, The other girls regarded him with awe;

They sought him, but none caught him, and their hoping soon was ended. For Dottie was the only girl he "saw."

He flirted with coy Dottie,

And he boasted that sweet Dottie But the simplest maid that ever Simply sighed may still be clever In a simple, un-ex-pect-ed way.

The hero soon grew weary of the maiden and her sighing, On other ladies he bestowed his smiles,

But naughty little Dottie did no vain or foolish crying. She had letters from him, stacked in handy piles;

To Dottie he had written Things he never should have written, And she made him pay her well to set him free;

Oh, the simplest maid that ever Simply sighed may still be clever In her beautiful sim-ple-lic-tee.

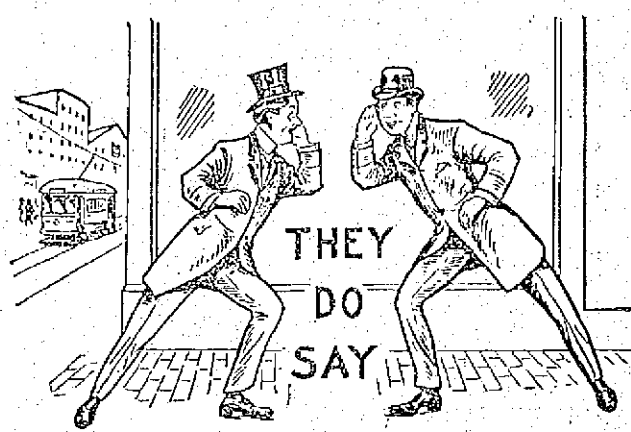

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Lawrence Eagle: Sneezers, for whom sneezing is a common interest, are rounded up in that famous White Mountain resort, Bethlehem, N. H., for the annual meeting of the United States Hay Fever association, which derives its name from the fact that all its members sneeze in June, July and August and as much longer as they are afflicted with hay fever outside of the regular hay-fever season. Hay fever is not a pleasant disease, and it makes its victims suffer and destroys their good temper. But it is by far the best organized disease in America.

LA FOLLETTE'S CLAIM

Springfield Republican: Mr. La Follette has another claim, perhaps, to be acknowledged as the undisputed leader of the insurgent group and as their presidential candidate. He has been a candidate before. In 1908 he received 26 votes in the republican national convention, all of the votes to be sure being cast by the Wisconsin delegation. It was a candidacy that at least demonstrated the Wisconsin senator's entire independence of President Roosevelt, then the leader of the republican party. For Mr. Taft was the Roosevelt choice. Of the candidates in that convention besides Mr. Taft—and they were Messrs. Hughes, Cannon, Fairbanks, Knox, La Follette and Foraker—the Wisconsin man alone survives as a presidential aspirant.

It is an idea firmly and tenaciously entertained by many people who are not children in political experience and knowledge that Mr. La Follette will some time actually run for the presidency, not merely for a nomination, even if he has to break away from all party restraints in placing his candidacy before the people. It is in the man's blood. He believes in his "destiny." He never will be content until he has made the great race. It is still an open question whether this will happen next year or some other year. The senator may be satisfied for the present with a futile campaign for a nomination; but, in that case, he will make his contest against President Taft a mere tryout of his strength in preparation for 1916.

INSURANCE REFORMS

Com. Hardison Wants Uniform Rule for Dating Policies

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The annual report of the insurance commissioner of the commonwealth, Frank H. Hardison, was made public yesterday. It calls the lack of a uniform rule for dating policies one disturbing element in the life insurance situation, and raises the question whether the statute which went into effect January 1, 1911, requiring Massachusetts personal, accident and health insurance companies to file with the insurance commissioner a copy of each form of policy it purposes to issue, should not have gone further and prescribed the language to be used in accident and health contracts.

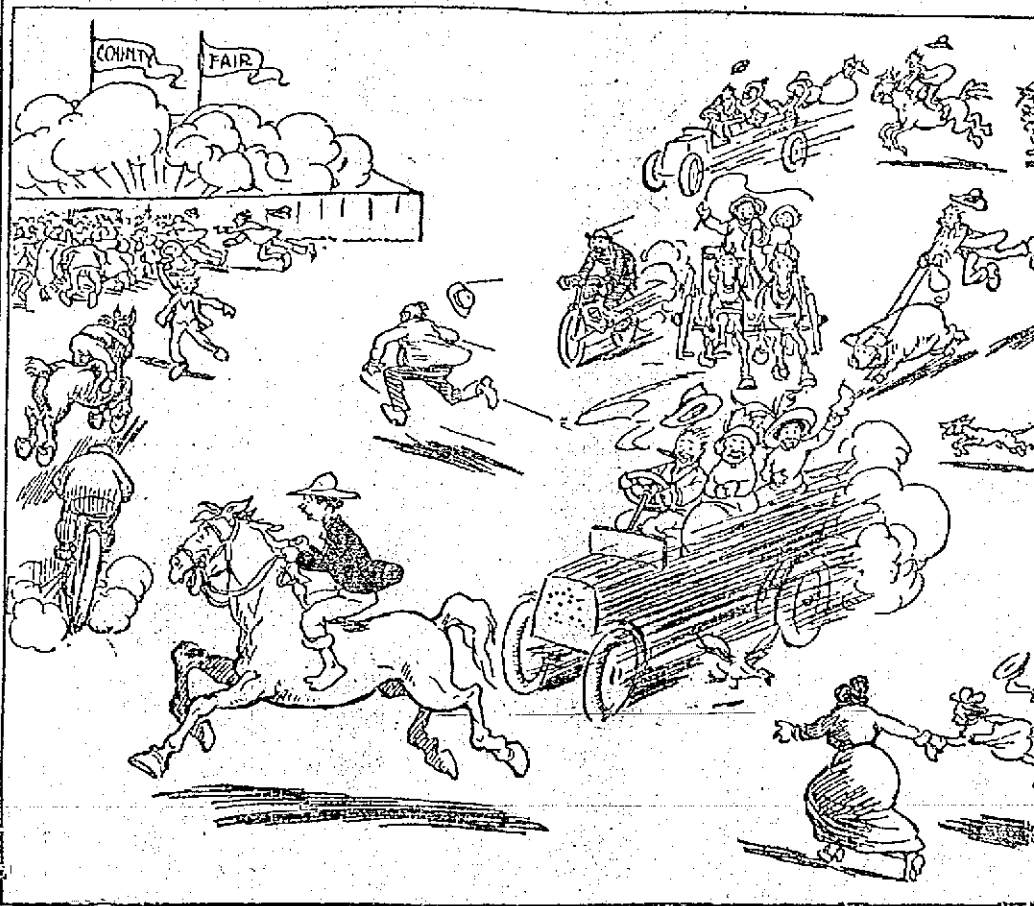

The proper treatment of old policy holders of a mutual company and a discussion of the Union Central Life Insurance company are other matters in the body of the report.

Commissioner Hardison raises the question "Is there a legal remedy" to meet what is called an unsatisfactory condition in regard to dating back policies, and in answer says: "If there is any such remedy in Massachusetts it will have to be found in a statute not directly designed to meet this state of affairs, for there is no law which specifically covers it. If there is discrimination involved, the anti-discrimination statute would reach it. But there is no difference of opinion as to whether the dating back of a policy involves discrimination within the meaning of the law. Some companies hold that inasmuch as they offer to allow each applicant to select the date his policy is to bear, there can be no discrimination, even if one person gets a premium for a year younger age than he has really attained while another does not."

If no arrangement is reached by the companies on this important matter, said the report, "a rule should be enacted by statute, uniform as far as practicable in all states. That rule should not permit a policy to be given a date earlier than the date of the application therefor is the belief of the Massachusetts commissioner.

The question of whether certain companies are violating the law of the commonwealth in offering accident policies to the public by means of slot machines, is answered in the report by a statement from Atty.-Gen. Malone to the effect that if nothing else is sold with insurance policies from the same machine the machine method may be employed.

ARMY OF HOBOES

Has Been Lost in the Shuffle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—According to police officials the army of hoboos which has threatened to invade Washington today to attend the opening of the Brotherhood Welfare association's convention is lost. A sharp lookout along the railroad tracks, in the parks and down by the water front has been kept for the tramps, but so far no more than the usual sprinkling of lecherous men has been found.

The hobo army has a press agent of its own and according to this dignitary Baltimore alone would send 2000 men. Philadelphia, it was announced, would dispense temporarily with the services of 400 of her idle poor, New York with 300 and other cities in proportion, according to their distance from Washington.

Contrary to the general impression many of these tramps were expected to reach Washington "riding the plush," that is, paying their way. When the question of transportation was under discussion in the hobo headquarters in Baltimore a few days ago, Marion A. Tatum, traffic agent of the electric line, walked in and offered to take the hoboos to Washington for 75 cents apiece, and his offer was accepted by the more wealthy of the roadside aristocrats.

Meanwhile, Maj. Sylvester, chief of the district police, has sent out orders warning the precincts of the approach of the invading army and directing that the law against vagrants be rigorously enforced. But just where the army is no one can say.

ROAMS DESERT

FORMER NEW YORK POLICEMAN LOST IN NEVADA

RENO, Nev., Sept. 1.—Suddenly becoming crazed, apparently by the heat, James Mahoney, a former New York policeman, said to be a relative of W. Bourke Cockran, either perished or is wandering naked on the Nevada desert, 60 miles east of Reno.

Mahoney left Reno three days ago to accept a position with a surveying party. He appeared at the Eagle Salt works, stripped himself of clothing and ran madly across the barren sands. Members of the surveying crew spent all the afternoon Thursday and last night searching for him, but without success.

It is feared the man has perished on the desert. Mahoney was employed at the West One-Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Eighth avenue station in New York city and later was transferred to the Bronx.

GLOUCESTER RAIDS

THIRTEEN MEN WERE PLACED UNDER ARREST

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 1.—George O. Stacey, member of the Gloucester park commission and proprietor of the Hawthorne Inn that was raided early last Sunday morning, his confidential clerk, Frank H. Shute, and 11 proprietors of lunch and pool rooms whose places have been raided within the last six weeks, were arrested yesterday and will appear before Judge Sumner B. York in the Gloucester district court on the charge of maintaining liquor nuisance.

City Marshal Marchant served the warrants on Stacey and Shute, who were immediately bailed by Edward D. Parsons. The others arrested, all of whom were bailed out, were Charles S. Gray, Thomas Rose, Moses Noseworthy, Sarah Shizeas, ex-Councilman William D. Luskin, Phillip Fitzgerald, John Perry, Thomas Capon, John L. Anderson, Mary Whiting, Edward Thorneat, Mayor Isaac Patch, brother-in-law of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, A. Platt Andrew, has instigated these raids, and has expressed himself as wanting to treat the rich and poor alike.

FOOT INJURED

TIMOTHY FINNEGAN HAD FOOT CRUSHED AT BILLERICA

Timothy Finnegan, residing at 11 Sidney street, had the big toe of his right foot crushed while at work at the site of the new repair shops of the Boston & Maine railroad in Billerica this morning. He was employed as a laborer and when one of the dump cars was being unloaded some portion of the car fell on his foot crushing the toe. He was placed on a train at Billerica and the ambulance was called. The ambulance met the train at the Middlesex street station at 3.30 o'clock and removed Finnegan to St. John's hospital where he received treatment.

WILL BET $100,000

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER WILLING TO BACK THE PIONEER

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—When a man is willing to bet $100,000 on a power boat beating another gasoline-driven boat he has some confidence, not to say sporting blood, in his makeup. This was what the devotees of motor boat racing thought at Huntington harbor yesterday when they heard that the duke of Westminster, owner of the Pioneer motor boat, had sent a telegram to Fred Burnham, helmsman and part owner of the noted Dixie IV, that he was willing to wager, in whole or part, $100,000 that the Pioneer will beat the Dixie IV in the races for the British International trophy.

When Burnham received the message he was dumfounded by the offer. He had not expected any such challenge. Although he is not adverse to a sporting proposition of any kind, the magnitude of the bet suggested by the duke nearly staggered Burnham, as it were.

"Hum," he said, "I guess I'll think it over. The Pioneer must be even faster than she was last year, when she showed more speed than the Dixie III, to warrant such a message. The Pioneer could have won the Anty Drudge Enjoys Nature.

Mrs. Hardwork—"My, but it is awful to stay indoors and bend over a steamy washtub this beautiful weather."

Anty Drudge—"You are foolish to do it Mrs. Hardwork. Fels-Naptha is doing my washing while I am going out to sit under the trees. If you would try washing the Fels-Naptha way you would have plenty of time to enjoy Nature on wash-days as well as other days."

Summer washing means a day's discomfort every week—unless you use Fels-Naptha soap.

A hot fire on a summer's day is heart-breaking; every woman knows it. If you wash with Fels-Naptha you don't need a hot fire. Boiling is unnecessary.

Fels-Naptha will clean the clothes better and quicker in cold or lukewarm water than any other means. That is why Fels-Naptha is not only a soap, but a different way of washing.

No boiling. No hard-rubbing on a washboard to heat you up. No time wasted. Makes your white clothes whiter and sweeter than you can get them in any other way. Wet the things, soap freely with Fels-Naptha, let them soak for thirty minutes; then rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? And it is easy. If you have tried it, you know. If you haven't, try it next washday. But be sure and use Fels-Naptha the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

race last year," said Burnham to a crowd of friends. "If Capt. Noel Robins had not tried to make a monkey out of me by trying to beat the Dixie III by a quarter of a mile. If he had been content with beating me 100 yards, the Pioneer would have won. Since, for new improvements she undoubtedly has increased her speed four or five miles an hour."

Bess—What a pity it is that the pitcher for the home team is so wild.
 Tom—Single man, isn't he?
 Bess—Yes, I guess so. But what has that got to do with it?
 Tom—Well, if he were to get married, I fancy that might steady him down a bit.

Tom—What do you think of the view from the hotel veranda?
 Harry—Magnificent! I can see four helmses right from where I stand.

OLD GLORY WAS N.G.

I WAS foreman in an American silver mine in Mexico when the late unpleasantness broke out," said the man with the husky voice. "When things began to grow hot all the other officers pulled out and left me to face things. The order from the manager was:
 "If any rebels appear here you are to run up Old Glory and threaten them with the vengeance of the United States."
 "Four days later a gang appeared, and I run our glorious flag to the mast-head and got off what might be called a fervid address. I was patiently listened to, and when I had finished the chief of the band said:

"It is one beautiful flag, senior, but you would look more beautiful in its place!"

"And they did things?" was asked.

"You bet they did! Down came Old Glory, and up I went in its place!"

"Not by the neck?"

"Sure, and I'd hung half a minute before the hallards broke. When I came to the offices were looted and the rebels gone, with O. G. tied to a mule's tail and dragging in the dust!"

"But—but—"

"Oh, that's all. Our flag is a corker of actors."

An Explanation.

THE Englishman had landed in New York and had been met by a friend who had taken him to lunch in the business district. There was the usual rush and boiling for food, and the Englishman kept tab and finally said:

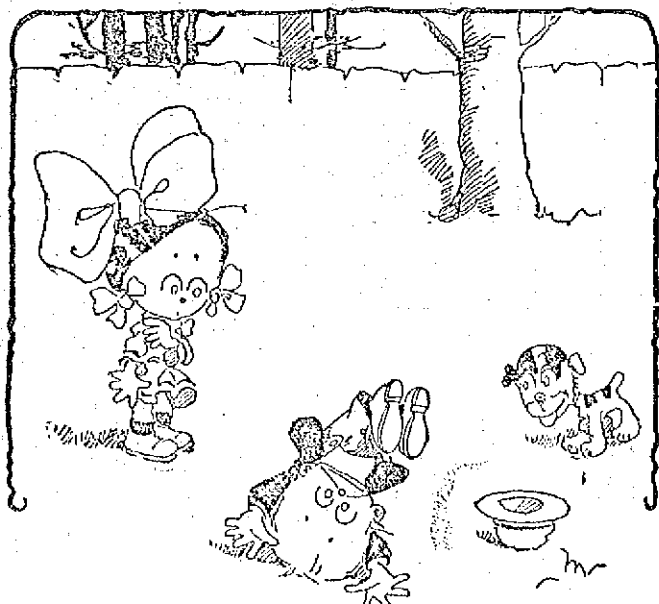

"I find that the average patron of this place stows away his lunch in seven minutes."

"He usually does it in six," was the reply, "but the crowd is a little slow today."

"And do you mean to tell me that business is so driving that a man can't take but six or seven minutes for his lunch?"

"Business? Oh, no! All these men are rushing to get back to their offices to finish up game of poker begun at nine o'clock this morning. We are rather lazy as to business, but when it comes to poker we hustle!"

"Damme!"

"But he can't be an animal!"

"Mebbe not."

"But it seems rather funny that you are going out to shoot snipe and don't know what a snipe is."

"I don't have to. My wife wants $30 for a fall hat, and I can't spare it, and the object is to get away from home for two or three days and shoot somebody or something."

A WEEK previous to Labor Day the rising young lawyer called on the president of a labor union to ask:

"Will your union have an excursion or picnic to celebrate the Day?"

"That is the plan," was the reply.

"Then, of course, you will want an orator?"

"What for?"

"Why, to speak of labor as ennobling, and all that—to refer to the wheels of industry—to picture the vine-clad cottage—home and snow-brown and muscled. You know how those things go, and I'll give you something extra for ten dollars."

"I see. Can you bring down rents?"

"Hardly."

"Or the price of foodstuffs?"

"I don't think so."

"Can you tell us how to beat the trusts?"

"I can't promise."

"Can you raise our wages?"

"You must know I can't."

"Just hot air, eh? Then please excuse me. This is my busy day. Yes, labor is ennobling, but we work with our hands instead of our mouths!"

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

NEW CARS FOR KANSAS CITY
 SEPTEMBER 1.—The Modern American electric railroad is said to have been born in 1835 in the small village of Brandon, Vt., with Thomas Davenport, the village blacksmith as sponsor. But like all inventors Thomas had his troubles, mechanical and financial and the baby was a weakling and many a time it had to be taken to the hospital to make it grow. At that time and for many years after what was known as the "primary" battery was the only available source from which energy could be obtained for the driving of any kind of electric motor. The first real electric railroad in the United States was started in Kansas City, September 1, 1884. It had all the trimmings. A smug conductor, motorman that would pass and leave you standing on the corner swearing so fast that the recording angel would have to take it in shorthand, and all the features that appeal to the average passenger when it comes to getting him to invest money made the new enterprise so lively that electric railroads were soon running in all directions all over the country.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 1.—With the wind blowing 18 miles an hour from the northwest and a heavy sea on the fleet under Rear Admiral Osterhaus today began its September war game on the southern drillgrounds off the Virginia Capes. The aim had been to have these manoeuvres take place during severe weather as well as under favorable conditions and the start was made this morning with atmospheric and other conditions such as made the long range firing calculated to develop the very best skill aboard the fleet. It is planned that in the long range firing no shot will be aimed at a distance of more than five miles with maximum range firing more than nine miles.

SAIMAN SIRK WON
 In His Suit Against Wonderland Owner

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—A verdict for Saiman Sirk and against the Walnut Avenue company of Revere, owner of Wonderland, was found by Judge Pierce in the equity session of the superior court yesterday in the former's action for rescinding a contract for the purchase of property for $50,000. Claiming that John J. Higgins, former manager of the company, represented to him that the 16 arched wells on the property had a capacity of 500 gallons a minute, Sirk told the court that he found the actual capacity about 70 gallons a minute. The court, while deciding for Sirk, did not find the statement of Higgins fraudulent, as he believed his words to be true. Judge Pierce held that Sirk ought to be limited in his relief to cancellation of the contract, to the repayment of the $5000 that he had paid on account toward the purchase price and to the other obligations incurred by him.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE
 Would Rather be Good Senator Than Poor President

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa., Sept. 1.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, speaker at the mass meeting here under the auspices of the State Grange yesterday, only casually mentioned the presidency and did not discuss reciprocity and other national issues. In telling of battles for his principles in his home state he said he could have been governor before he was elected if he had desired the place for the honor alone. "But," said he, "what is it to be governor or president, even, for the honor of it alone?" After a pause he continued: "As to the presidency, I will say only this: Most anybody would like to be president. Most anybody who has a good, broad conception of the conditions that exist in this country would like to be president if he could work things out and bring the government back to the people of the United States. I would rather have the little part I'm going to have as one of the men who help to make that movement the fundamental thing in the life of the American people. I would rather have that and the place it will give me in history than to have the place that some men who have been president will have in the history of this republic."

Tomorrow Afternoon, at 3 O'Clock
 KANE PROPERTY IN TWO SEPARATE PARCELS. 2 1-2 STORY HOUSE AND ABOUT 2000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 145 CHARLES ST. SECOND PARCEL, A 2 TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 2000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 150 CHARLES ST.

I shall offer for sale at public auction on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the weather, the above two parcels.
FIRST PARCEL—Is a 2 1-2 story house of eight rooms, and an unfinished attic; on the first floor is a parlor, kitchen, chamber, pantry, back shed and toilet, and three good chambers on the floor above; it is lighted by gas and is in very fine condition inside and out; it is rented by a good tenant at $15 a month, or $150 a year.
SECOND PARCEL—Is a two tenement house and about 2000 square feet of land at 150 Charles street. The tenement on the first floor has eight rooms, this part of the house I occupy myself, but have been offered $15 a month for it several times. The upstairs tenement has five rooms and an unfinished attic, and is rented at $10 a month; this house is also lighted by gas. On a rental of $15 for downstairs and $10 for the tenement above, it would make a total rental of $200 a year for this parcel.
 I have owned this property a number of years and it has proved a profitable investment for me and will undoubtedly do the same for the purchaser. My only reason for disposing of it is, that I am too far advanced in years to have the care of real estate.
 The above two properties are certainly located on a smooth paved street, between Central and Lawrence streets and where they will always rent well, within 10 minutes' walk of several industries and within five minutes' walk of the postoffice. Make all inquiries of the auctioneer whom I have left in charge. Terms: $250 will be required and must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. The same to be done with $300 on the second parcel.
 PATRICK KANE.

HEADACHES CURED Suffered for Five Years

I wish to say that I have had headaches for five years. I went to three of the best opticians that I thought would help me, but I can honestly say I received no relief until J. W. Grady the Optician, tested my eyes and fitted me to glasses. I have not had a headache since wearing his glasses and before wearing them I would be sure to have a headache every morning. I remain, Yours very truly,

EPIDEMIC SPREADS

SPINAL MENINGITIS IS PREVALENT AT MILFORD, N. H.

MILFORD, N. H., Sept. 1.—Two additional cases of spinal meningitis, which has caused four deaths here during the last month, were reported yesterday. Physicians found pronounced symptoms in the two children of Atty. E. L. Kittredge, 9 and 2 years old. The first victim in town, Chester Hall, 14 years old, died about three weeks ago after a day's illness. A public church funeral was held, which is thought may have caused a spread of the disease. A few days later two children, aged 12 years and 9 months, of William Wendell, died of the same cause. The fourth victim was a 12-year-old girl, Mildred Holkinson. The physicians have other cases under observation, which show slight signs of the disease.
